Gary;

To a very neat, cool;
sophisticated; well trained beer drinker, paper deliverer; lying stinkin, no good fraud that's really pretty neat honest and true to the bible because he knows St. Louis is going to win the pennant this year even if Dave Rader plays for San Francisco and Doug plays for the Houstons, and speaking of Raiders, Oakland is going to the superbowl this year because George Blanda used to play for the University of Kentucky, the state in which I was born, because Jim Palmer for the Orioles is my uncle although he's going to get beat by the Cardinals in the World Series because I wrote him and told him your pens running out of ink, so I wish you good luck you'll need it, be cool your friend Steve '74"

a yearbook is a pictorial history of a year captured for you to remember. this year we choose to record history of crockett high school 1972-73 through friends.

where would we be without friends? it's hard to say. take a look at all the things we have all been through . . . with friends. good times, bad times, glad times, sad times — all with people you don't want to forget, or sometimes wish you could.

what exactly makes a friend? it is a lot of things. it concerns more than feelings of personal regard. friends share everything from playing and relaxing together to disagreeing. it takes more than one to argue, just as it takes more than one to play.

we recorded this year for you through friends — an angle which we all share.

rest and relaxation is something we all needed keeping busy isn't all that friends do. sometime during a hectic day, everyone needs to take a break. at times, we need to get away by ourselves. although you aren't exactly by yourself in a classroom, it is possible to get away in a dream, as our unsuspecting vitim does so well. chris frentrup found his sanctum in the library. but other times we can "get away together". relaxing from the humdrum of a structured classroom, tracy traxler, mary thomas, and kathy rutherford celebrated the choir bake sale. at the wurstfest, cheryl gumfory (and friend) took a breather from dancing. finally debbie fields finds a moment's rest from a newspaper workshop in denton, texas.

working for pride or profit helped us achieve our goal in physics, we learn that work is the product of time and power. to accomplish goals and get somewhere takes a great deal of this formula. getting a little wet never hurt anyone. i think we proved this and showed that it helped. washing cars proved to be a profiting activity. but money was not all we worked for. after school and in school we worked to get ahead. by practicing the baton handoff in track, ruby carter hopes for a number one team. the tedious job of ballot counting had to be done. pictured are laura moore and bobby binford counting for the student council elections. still others were studying in the library, pupils prepare for a class. this future chemist seems interested in a science lab.

after school time gave everyone a chance to be themselves school is not all classroom work from 8:25 to 3:30. on nice days, the tennis courts seemed to attract some visitors. lisa sandahl and bonnie brandt made good use of the facilities. also note the fantastic group shot of lane mcrae, ethal coffee, connie gillespie, and nancy mcmahon — but not on school time, of course. even the teachers get in a little fun on the side. mrs. anita spain and max fisher showed the rest of the world, or at least the wurstfest, how to polka. after school is a lonely walk home for some, but these two girls aren't so dismayed together. noel mascarenhas plus a few other buddies enjoyed a friendly soccer game on their days off.

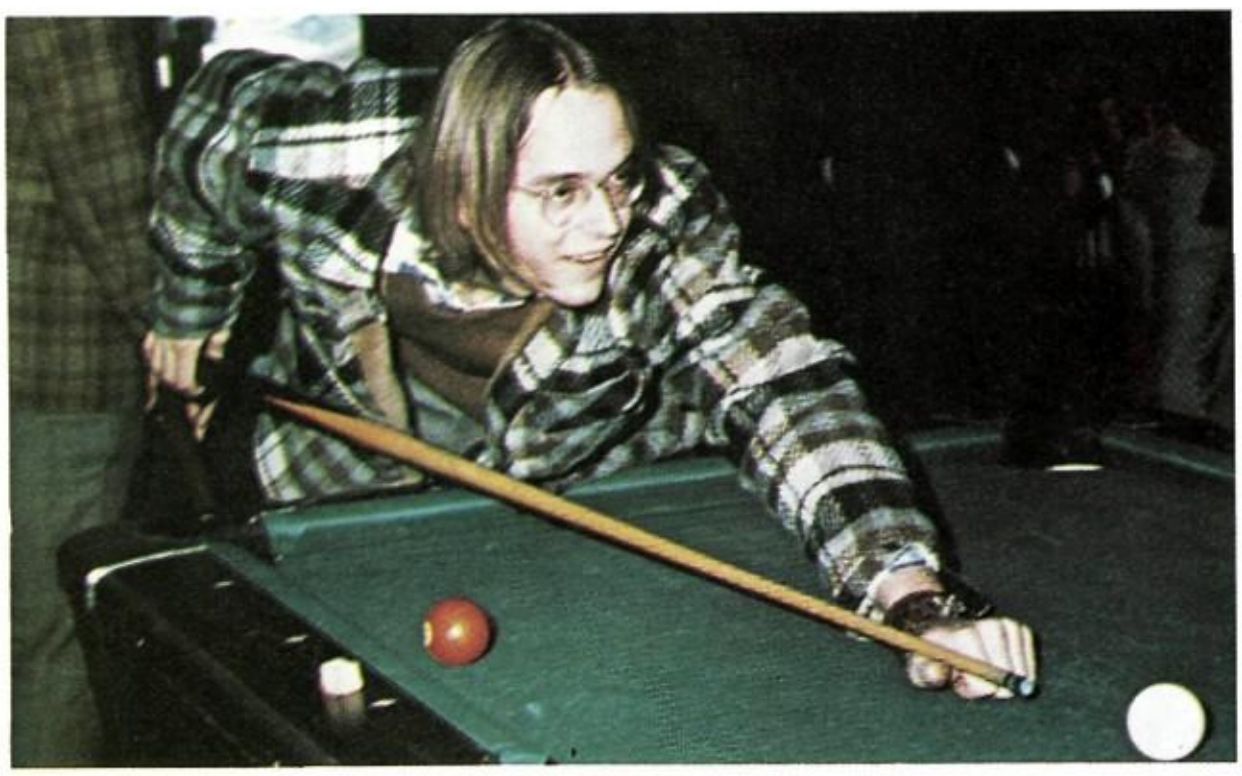
games can make school fun



a little fun is good for the soul. not wanting to be unhealthy, we cooperated with games for fun. queen of the roller derby, ann frizzell, looks like a little pride fell down with her new roller skates she got from santa claus. pool shark charles ray took a few shots after a day of publications workshops in denton. a friendly game of paper football doesn't hurt . . . as long as the teacher doesn't catch you. james rivard thought it was worth the chance. maybe they aren't any competition to fisher or spassky, but crockett had it's share of chessmen. these two amateurs concentrated to win the match while others looked on. kathy white, karen tumulty, and debbie yates watched as mark scott played master to the frets.

as we all know, not everything is roses, that is, we all have our little disagreements every now and then. crockett students were not without theirs. everyone knows how tall mike murphy is. when he gets mad at coach jones . . . back in the library, vickie mclain and cindy mclean decide to disrupt concentration (?) over a friendly dispute. sometimes even in classrooms disputes occur. some members of the choir were displeased with each other. this year, austin was treated to a rare sight — snow. taking advantage of the circumstances, charles ray and susie frizzell took out their frustrations on each other. students also have differences of opinion over national topics. always active in politics, travis mcclendon and tim canady didn't seem to care for the same presidential candidate.

helping people is a great reward of friendship. it gives you a good feeling to know that you've helped someone in need. we all know how it is when you're racing down the hall with an armful of books, when all of a sudden, you're standing there with half of your books in your arm, and half on the floor. sue smith was lucky to have a friend like delaine griffin to help. in a home ec. class, a novice seamstress receives little aid from debbie koenig. teachers play an important role at school because we are here to learn. teachers not only teach a subject, but without their assistance, we would be in pretty bad shape. mrs. laura denham is shown helping sally jaeger with schoolwork. where would actors and actresses be without the assistance of stage crews and other people who make up the entirety of a production. marie nowaki played the role of a make-up artist in a drama club play. ron chinn and his crutches were a familiar sight around school after his accident. his friends, such as sheryl alexander, seemed always delighted to carry his books for him while he recuperated.

life is more fun when you have someone to share things with. locker sharing was very big. note the manner in which the many volumes are stacked with such precision, that they will remain balanced even after a good hard slam of the door. how far does sharing go? all the way to girls? charles plummer has a couple he likes to share himself with. remember how your memory used to fail when you were to bring your book to class. these two students in mrs. moore's german class were always glad to let the other look on. even mrs. nancy collins, our sponsor, shared a little love with a visiting dog. diane moore enjoyed sharing time with less fortunate children at the deaf school. an empty coke bottle serves as a telltale sign — janet crews and nancy wells have been sneaking around behind the lockers splitting a drink.

eating out can be fun. no, we are not working for the restaurant association, but lunch and other meals and snacks wouldn't quite be the same if there wasn't someone there to help you make a mess. at times, eating can be both fun and profitable, as the annual pie eating contest students and faculty "showed off" their etiquette. lunch lines were a good place to visit with friends while everyone is anxiously salivating for their share. we all know the rules about eating in class. evidently, there was some infraction of this rule throughout the year. around christmas time a custom of leaving food for st. nick pops up. this year ed leblanc decided he would cut out the trouble and be santa himself to taste his own masterpiece of culinary delights. once you found a seat, the race was on. see how fast you can shove it in. the long lines and short lunch periods were braved just for that short minute of satisfaction.

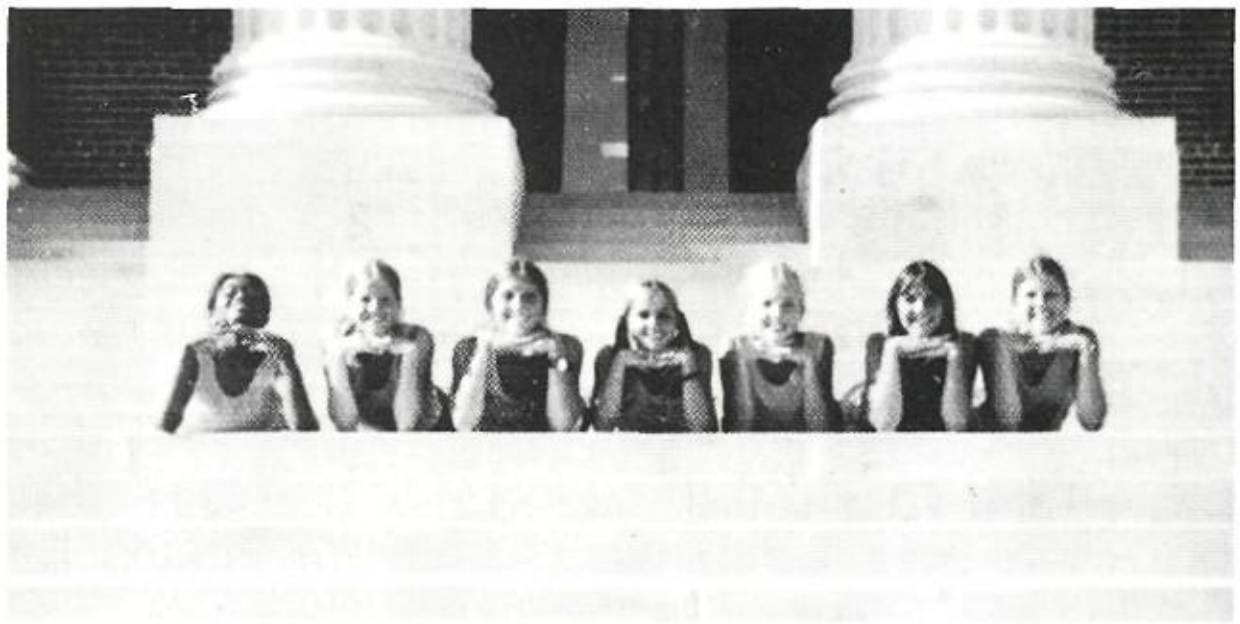
for the varsity cheerleaders, the summer was an endless maze of paper and paint. beginning in june, they spent at least two hours a day creating the "masterpieces" which hung in the halls before each football game. by august, the cheerleaders were ready for a vacation. summer camp in dallas was a real experience. making new friends and learning to get along with one another made up for all the sore muscles. a perfect ending for the week was winning the spirit stick for the third consecutive year.



1. by 3:00 a.m. maripat mayfield was so tired, she didn't even notice when the other cheerleaders played tricks on her. 2. always ready to have their picture taken, ethel, maripat, connie, dawn, nancy, bobbie, and diane pose on the steps of the s.m.u. library at camp. 3. the "cadillac kittens", alias the crockett cheerleaders, sang and danced their way into the hearts of over 1,200 cheerleaders at the talent show during camp. 4. sleepy bandsmen was a common sight in early morning practice sessions. 5. brass and percussion sections perfect prize-winning precision drills. 6. tennis shoes and jeans make conducting a little easier for miss crider during summer practice.

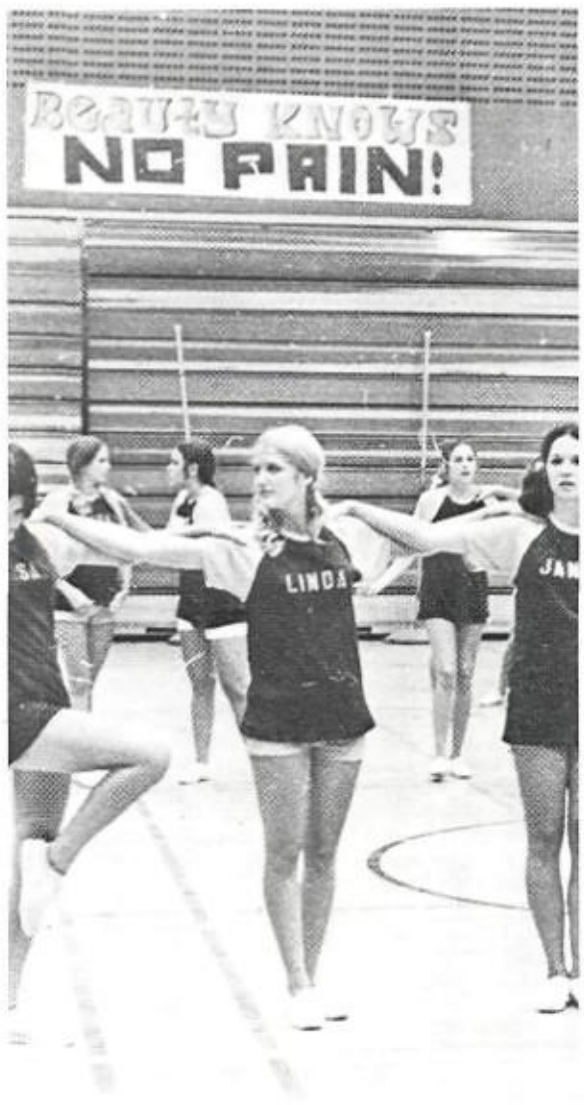
our cougar band began their spirit drive on the marching field during the heat of the summer months. everyday practices began in june for the up-and-coming junior varsity, july for the new varsity, and august for the old junior and senior varsity "pros". signs to be painted covered the floor, and buckets to be used for carwashes were not uncommon sights. occasionally they stopped long enough to cure aching legs with the oldest remedy known, a party. long hours of preparing for the coming year paid off for the cougar band since there has been a rumor around the campus that it is the "pride of cougarland".

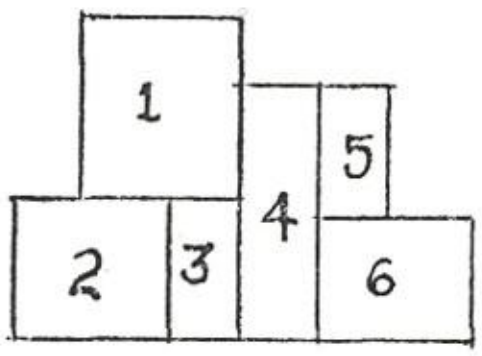
tex-anns forfeit summer fun to dance and sew

the texanns spent the summer preparing for the active year ahead. after choosing the patterns for their uniforms, the texanns made their summer and fall outfits. in late july and early august, they attended a workshop instructed by mrs. tidwell, swtsu strutter sponsor. they learned a total of seven new dances to provide halftime entertainment at football and basketball games. prior to the first day of school, the texanns ushered at the orientation assembly. as soon as the '72 texan went to press, the staff of the '73 yearbook went to work. along with the newspaper staff and the photographers, they attended a week-long workshop at smu. there they laid the foundations for the '73 texan and made plans for the '73 courier.



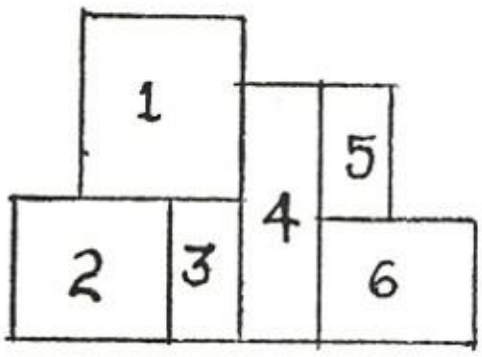
publications staff works 12 months a year

1. texanns practice a new step at their summer workshop. 2. mary bellemans and karen perkins, texann officers, talk with sponsor, mrs. daniels. 3. linda maurer and susan angell try to keep to the texann motto: beauty knows no pain. 4. karen miller, texan editor, makes plans for '73 yearbook. 5. debbie fields and karen miller find new friends at smu camp. 6. karen miller, lisa moore, charles ray, debbie fields, and charles carter relax for a moment after a busy day at workshop.



summer brought fun in the sun

a three-month break from school activities was welcomed by most cougars. industrious students got jobs for the summer, but most of us bums spent the long days of june, july and august just goofing around.



1. a group of senior girls celebrated their last summer in high school at the coast. this is how cheerleaders and tex-anns procured such a golden tan. 2. a common pastime for crockett students was skiing across lake travis on a hot sultry day. 3. vicky cox, junior, found bartons to be a fun spot during summer vacation. 4., 5., 6. p.a.s.f. members and sponsor, mrs. walker, spent part of their summer enjoying the sights and visiting friends in tampico, mexico.

hot summer no problem for cougar gridders the forecast for the summer season was hot, but the cougars withstood the sun and reported august 20 to begin preseason practice for the 1972 school year. they began this scorching session by breaking in new equipment in shorts. after becoming adjusted to the summer heat, full uniforms were worn. crockett's coaches held practice twice a day, beginning with an 8-12:30 session and concluded with an afternoon practice at 3:00. the gridders practiced agility, passing and kicking drills while also sharpening up reactions and skills after a short, short summer.

1. mitchell carter and charles plummer show their "soul" spirit before summer practice. 2. trainer mike byrd, bubba houston, mark micho, jeff crozier, mark morgan, and dan wise relax during break at summer practice. 3. coach lonnie jackson gives grady pennell and keith knuckells pointers on defensive hitting. keith munson, james johnson, and gary taylor wait their turn. 4. b-teamers bruce marshall and richard whited slurp a cool drink during pre-season workout. 5. robert nuckolls practices the art of faking a hand off to steve yeager, while larry scholtz is not so "faked" out. 6. after a hot summers work out kyle spillar longs for a cold shower.

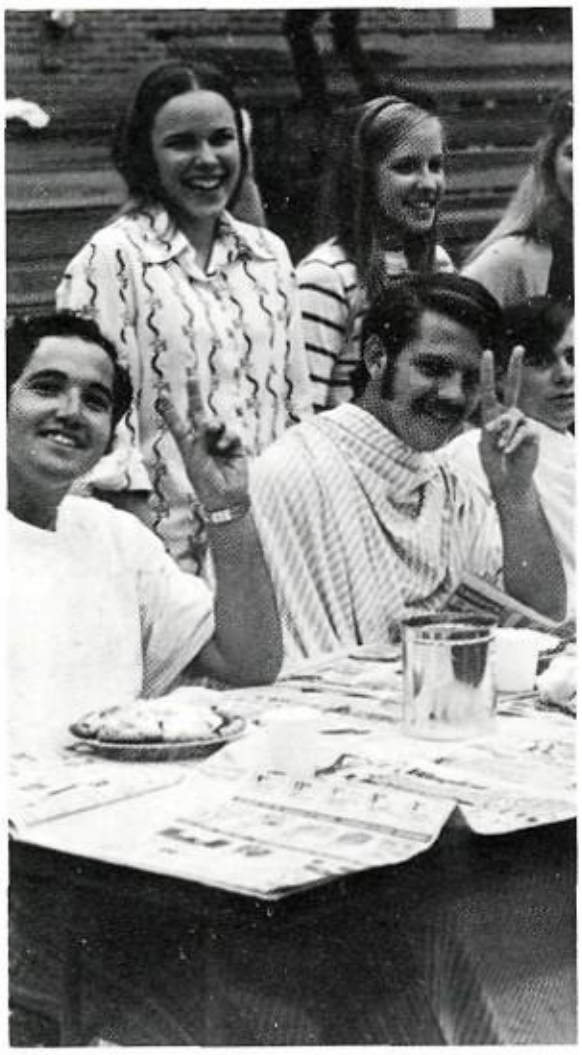
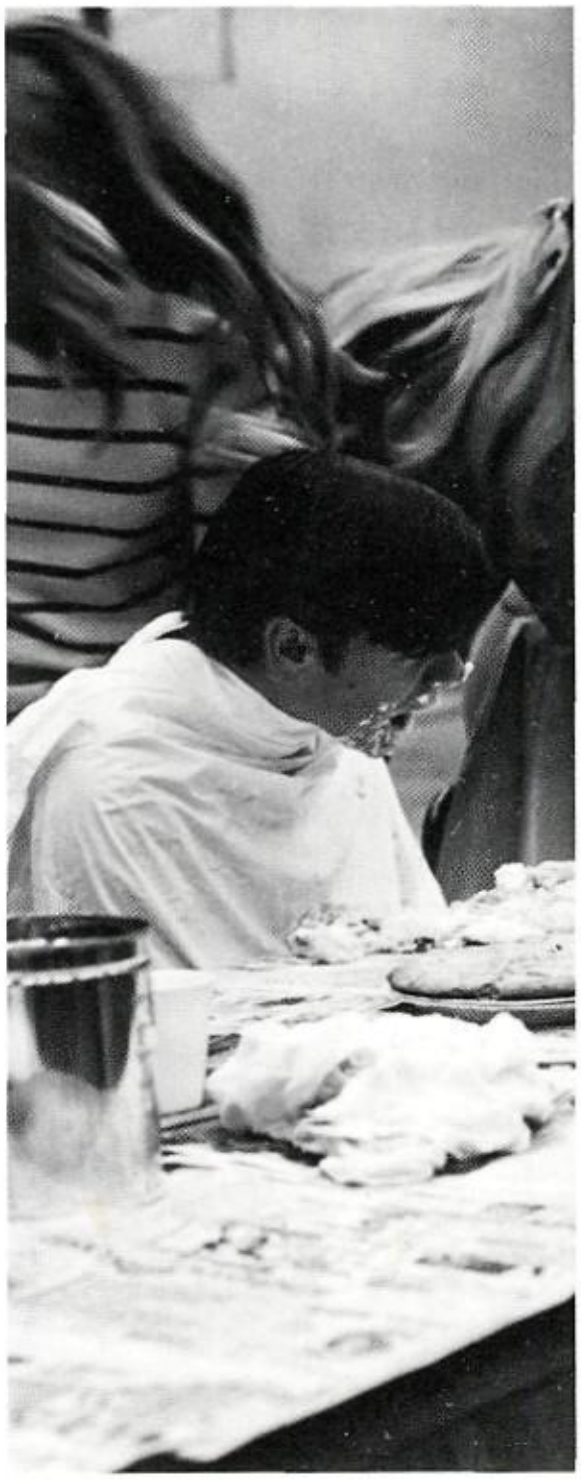
food played a particularly important part in two fall events. on november 3, the seniors earned $360.20 at their annual pie-eating contest. five senior boys and five male faculty members competed against each other to see which team could stash away the most pie. at the end of the hotly-contested race, the faculty was declared the winner.

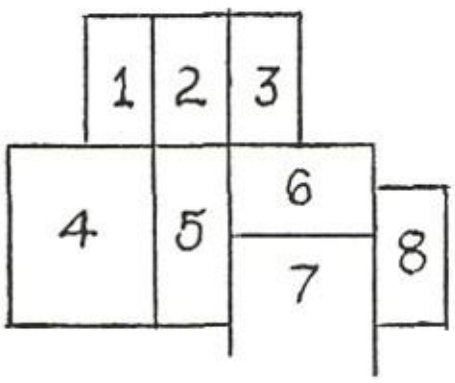
many students journeyed to new braunfels for the yearly wurstfest. several groups such as german club and texanns sponsored buses, but quite a few people went in their own cars to enjoy the food, music, dancing, and fun at the festival.

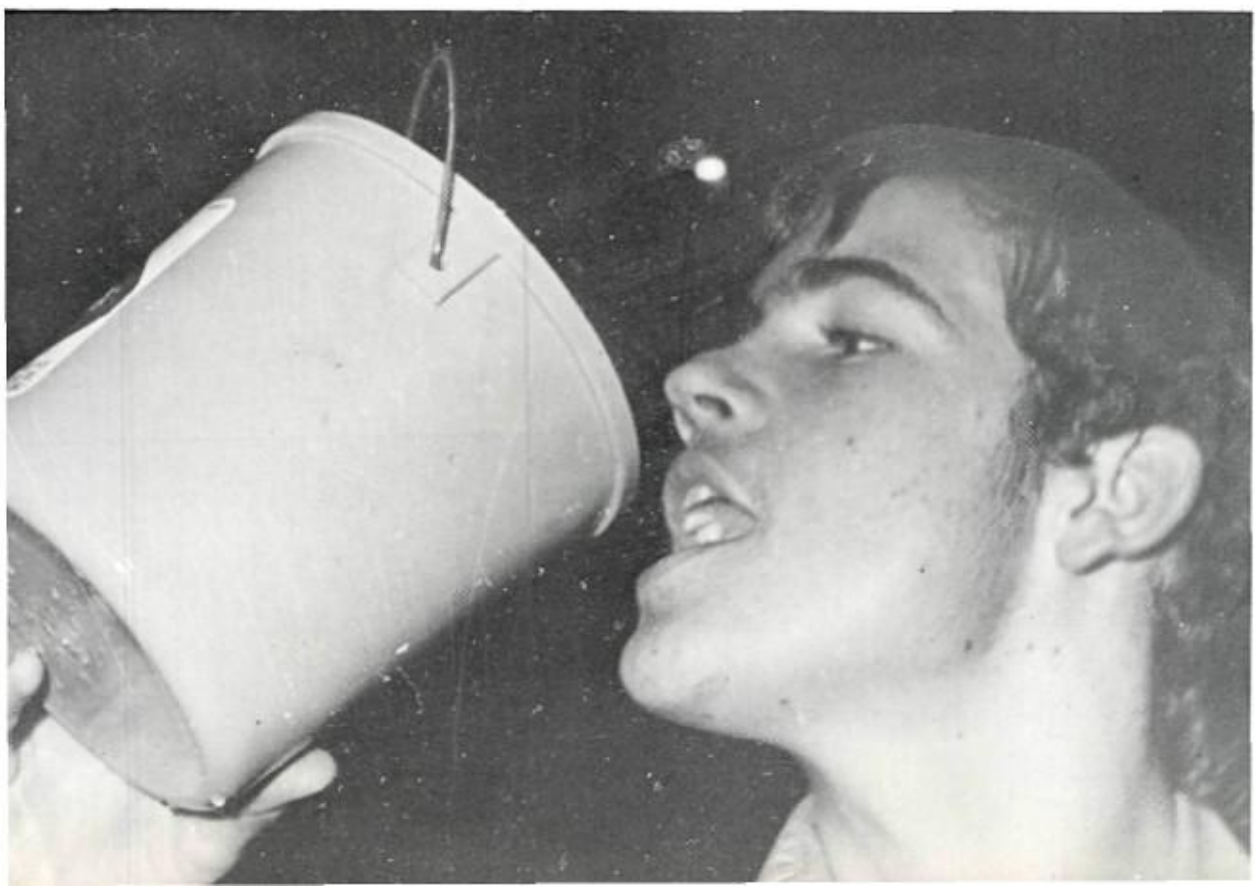




food and fun found at annual wurstfest

1. appearing confident of a student victory are gary rogers, ed le blanc, lynn swint, and brenda traugott. 2. the faculty team of mr. smith and mrs. messerole manage to make a mess of their first pie. 3. tony limbaugh munches on a piece of sausage. 4. diane moore had kyle spillar "eating out of her hand." 5. tim canady takes a breather between pies. 6. beth allen and tom harlow sit down for a coke break at the wurstfest. 7. one cougar samples a favorite german delight — beer. 8. the wurstfest offered an opportunity to try out some folk dances like german polkas.





students honor veterans in traditional ceremony in an advisory assembly held in front of the school on october 23, the crockett band, choir, and texans observed veteran's day. mrs. carole mc clellan, a member of the austin school board of trustees, was the featured speaker. other speeches were made by the texan officers.

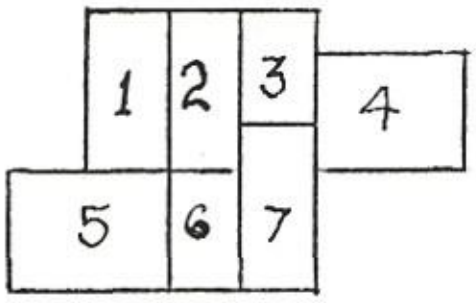
as a finale the choir and band combined on three numbers and robert hengst and carl haddick played "taps."



1. a stone in front of the capitol commemorates the sacrifices of veterans of world war I. 2. another memorial to the wwI veterans. 3. mrs. carole mc clellan emphasizes the importance of patriotism. 4. band members perform a medley of patriotic hymns. 5. with a piano accompaniment, crockett's concert choir sings "america the beautiful." 6. texan officer, dickie copeland, listens intently to the speeches that are being given. 7. tim canady gives a brief speech.

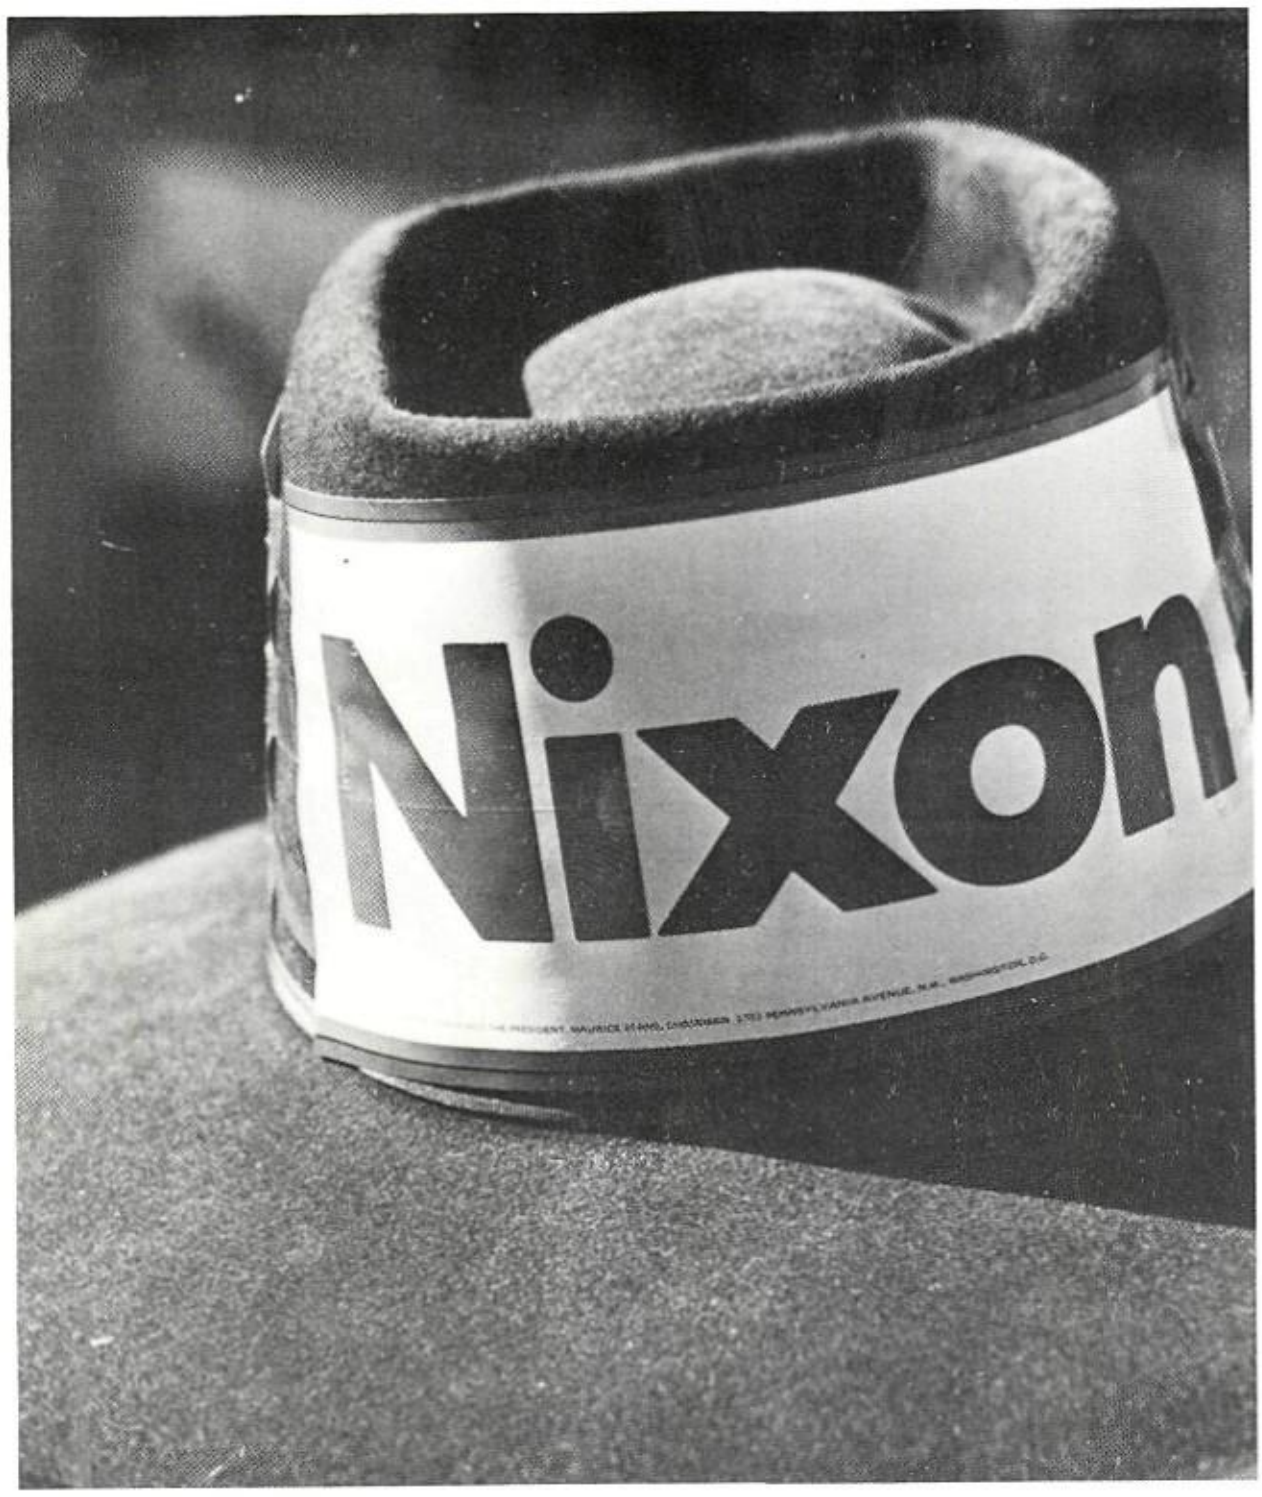
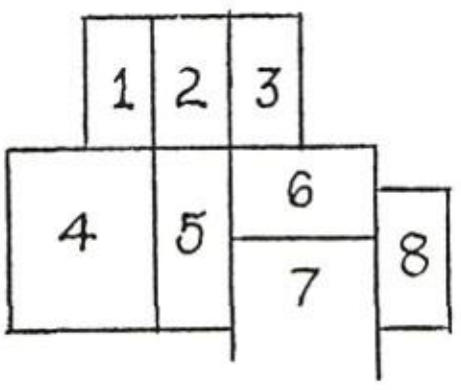
crockett students felt the impact of election '72, as campaign paraphernalia appeared all over the school. walls, lockers, people — nothing was spared when students decided to promote their favorite candidates in the local and national elections. on election day, voting booths were set up in the school foyer and many south austinites took advantage of the crockett location.



homecoming 1972

1. voters mark their choices in the booths set up at crockett. 2. george mc govern didn't win the elections, but we found many supporters among the students at crockett. 3. looking a little less than yummy, a stack of "walking pancakes" advertises the band's pancake supper in the homecoming parade. 4. a nixon sticker adorns one student's hat. 5. before people are allowed to vote, they must check in with the precinct representatives. 6. at a student council meeting, sara mayfield, beth butler, laura moore, diane morris (standing) and kathy tokheim, esther prado, and denise fox (sitting) plan for the sale of mums. 7. texanns and texans rode aboard their "king of the mountain" float in the parade. 8. a member of crockett's faculty, mr. hickman, has the rather dubious honor of being one of the few men to get a mum.



homecoming festivities highlight football season homecoming 1972 was a project started by the student council in late summer. after the original red tape (picking a date, getting a parade permit) was cut, various groups around the school got to work on their contributions to homecoming.

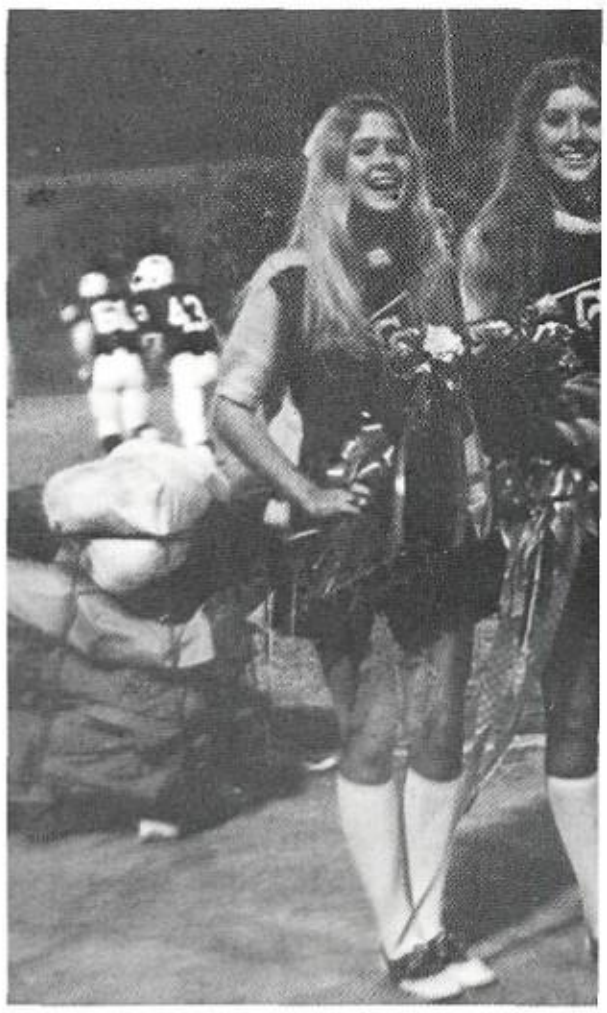
much of the activity centered around the october 19 parade. organizations entering floats included: band, texans/texanns, deca, voe, german club, honor society, kazoo band, vica, french club, scotch-irish mobilization committee, latin club, english teachers, and the chemistry department. the homecoming court rode on the student council entry. even though the weather was less than ideal, the parade came off as planned.

at the johnston game on october 20 the band sweetheart and homecoming court were announced. gloria hunt was named cougar band sweetheart with hilda prado and karen mc kean as her first and second runners-up. connie gillespie became homecoming queen. her court was mary bellemans, first runner-up, maripat mayfield, second runner-up, diane moore, third runner-up, ethel coffee, junior princess, cynthia sanders, sophomore princess, and susan schnell, freshman princess.



1. on her announcement as homecoming queen, connie gillespie tearfully embraces bill passmore. 2. in the twilight parade, french club members ride their float down manchaca road. 3. the homecoming court and their escorts. 4. cosmetology's entry in the parade. 5. the queen and her runners-up. 6. at the climax of the johnston pep rally, enthusiastic cougars sing their school song.

with the excitement of football season comes . . . pep rallies . . . spirit signs . . . announcements! the cheerleaders were there, 100% in support of those fighting cougars. win or lose, in the eyes of our varsity cheerleaders, cougars are not only "always victorious," but, all ways victorious!

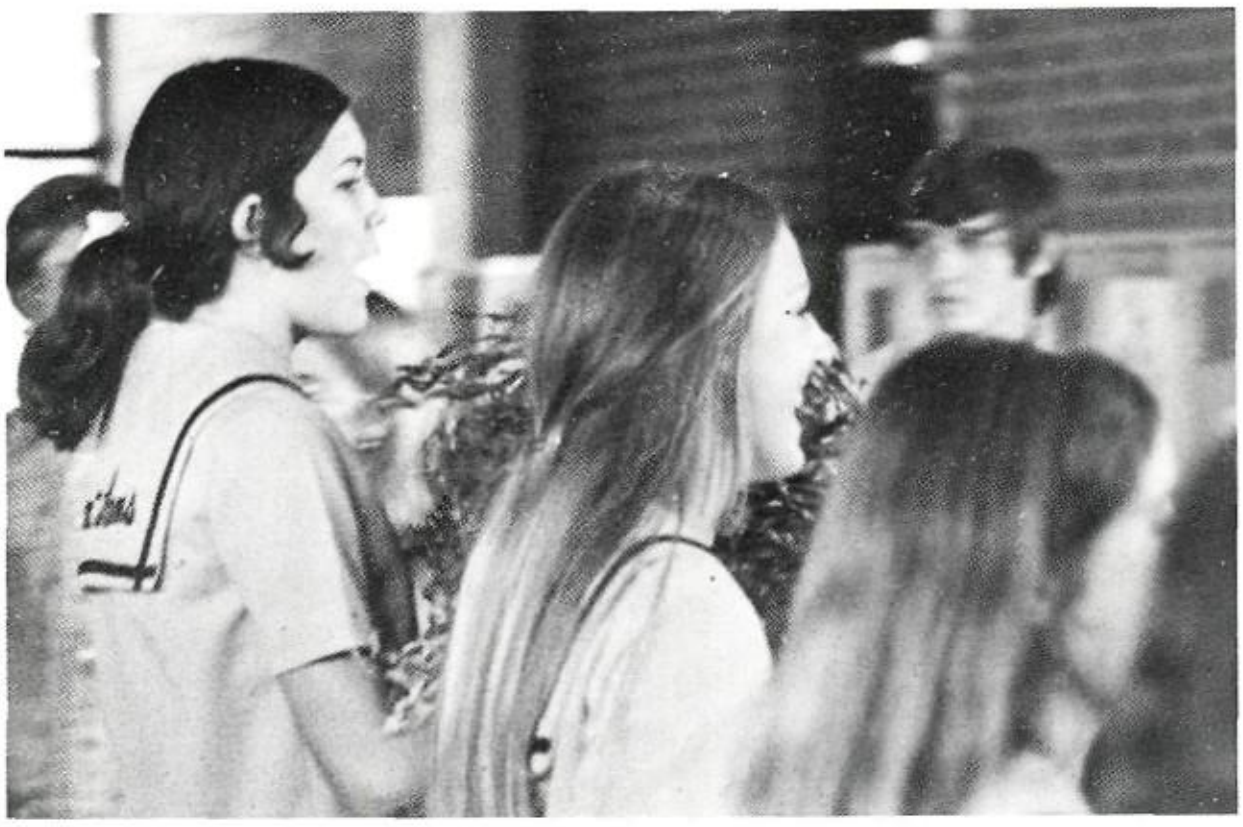
1. senior cheerleader, maripat mayfield, climbs to the top of a very big ladder to hang one of the permanent signs that decorated the gym this year. 2. dawn callahan, junior, leads the crowd at the macallum b-team game in a cheer. 3. the "spirit crusaders" in person: front row: diane moore, nancy mc mahon. back row: dawn callahan, maripat mayfield, connie gillespie, bobbie thompson, and ethel coffee. 4. who says there aren't real live fairies at crockett high school? bobbie thompson entertains students at a pep rally. 5. the first activity of the '72-'73 cheerleaders was freshman orientation. connie gillespie, senior head cheerleader, begins the seemingly endless series of sales pitches for those "terrific cougar bargains." 6. in her home away from home, ethel coffee, junior, giggles her way through the afternoon announcements . . . heck yeah, mama! 7. diane moore, senior, encourages the team at a game. 8. senior nancy mc mahon, though usually energetic, is caught taking a rest at a football game.



1. kim schaaf and cindi sanders, sophomores, march through the halls before a football game. 2. this year's captain, mary bellemans, relaxes during a break in the action of a game. 3. texanns spent many afterschool hours painting spirit signs for the football games and the pep rallies. 4. texanns join the rest of the student body in singing the school song before the start of a game. 5. laura nuckolls and karen marks enjoy some of the good german food at the new braunfels wurstfest. 6. d. j. debruin's smile typifies the vitality that has marked the first year of the pep squad. 7. pep squad members and texanns rejoice over a touchdown during the homecoming game.

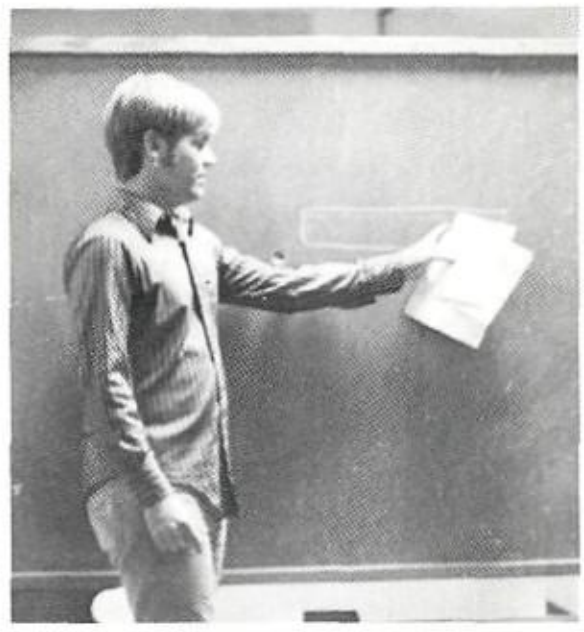
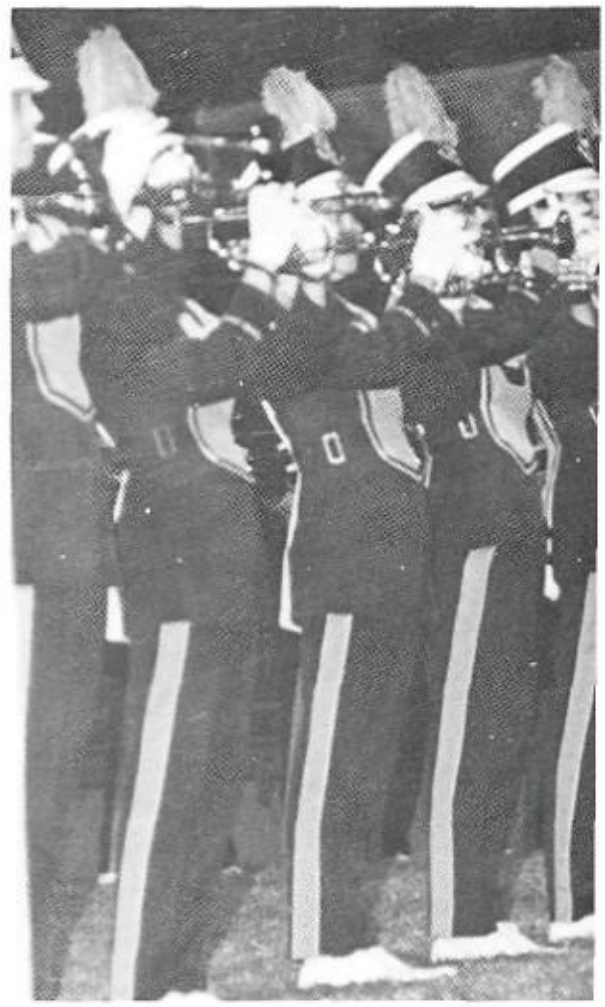
two groups of spirited girls were active during football season. one of these groups, the cougarettes, became crockett's first organized pep squad. the eighty girls met during advisories and learned two pom pom routines which they performed at pep rallies and football games. the drill team, the texanns, also did their part in promoting spirit. in addition to dancing at every football game these girls decorated the houses of the football players and painted spirit signs.

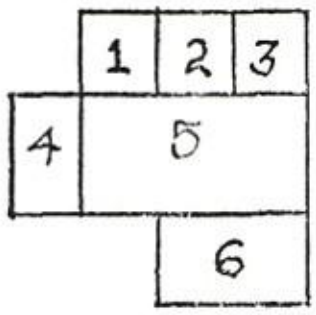


pride of cougarland continues in fine tradition

the 1972 football season was a really active one for the "pride of cougarland." at each football game the band gave a half-time performance which was the result of much sixth period and after-school practice. they added to the school spirit when they played some of their selections in the stands at the games and at the pep rallies.

as homecoming time came around, band members had to work diligently to get their float finished before the parade and, understandably, they were quite excited when their "i can't believe i ate the whole team" float was announced first place winner at the pep rally the morning after the parade. at half-time that evening gloria hunt was named 1972-73 band sweetheart with karen mc kean and hilda prado as her runners-up.





1. robert hengst shows a preliminary sketch of the homecoming parade float. 2. russ stevens checks his horn to make sure that everything is ok before the band marches onto the field. 3. since each band member had to play his music every week before he could be in the half-time show, lynn pace spent much of her spare time practicing. 4. cathy corona plays during one of the band's stands' performances. 5. toeing the line, the band shows that they are as excellent at precision drills as they are at the music they play. 6. at the start of the half-time show, the entire band follows the lead of their drum majors as they march onto the playing field.

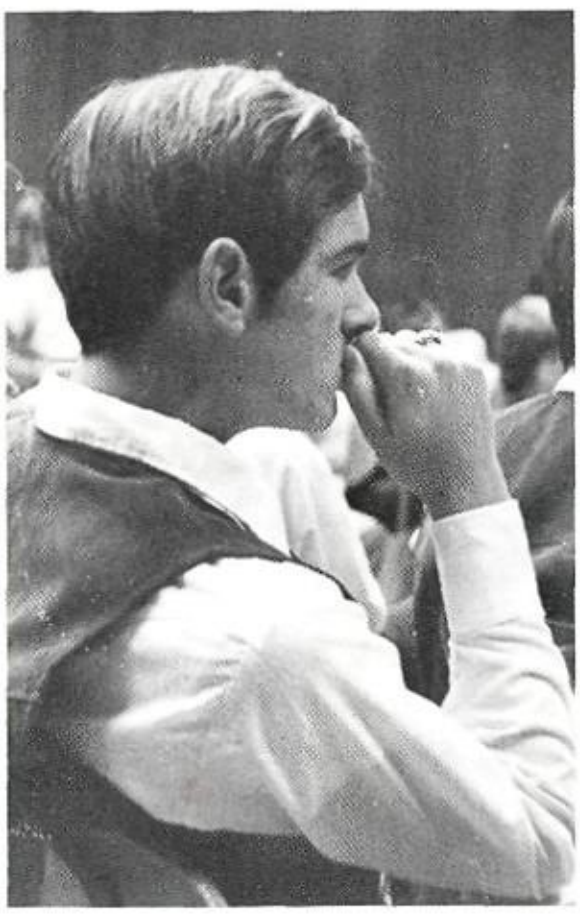
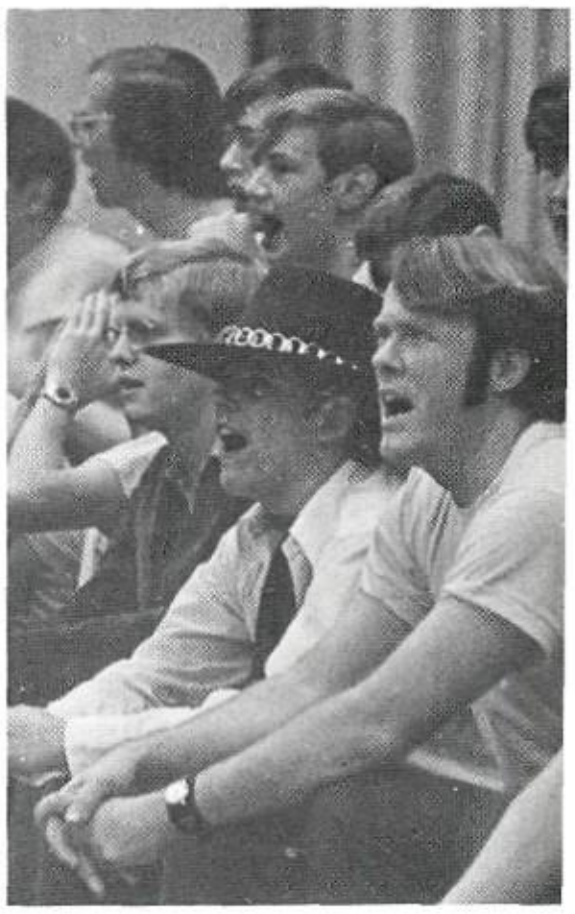
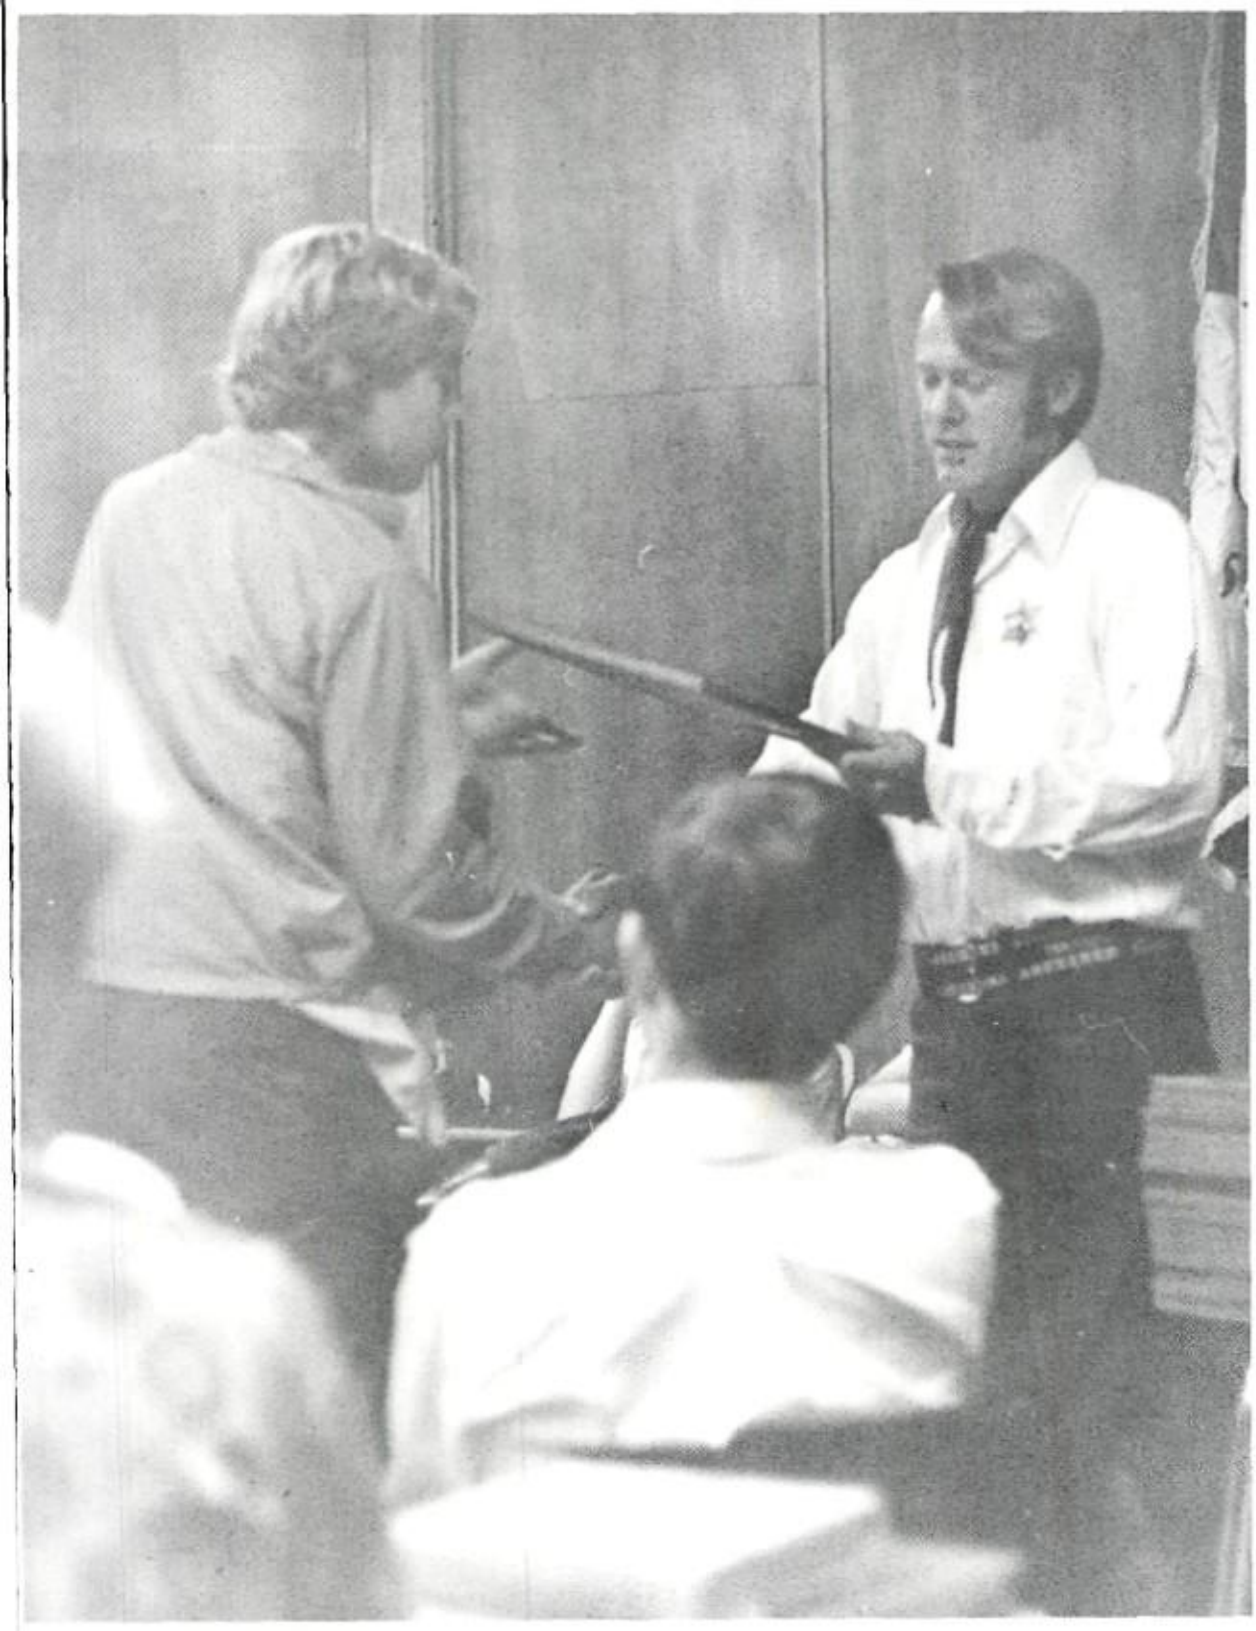
this year's membership was the largest ever for the texans and it included over fifty boys. helping at football games and pep rallies was a major part of their fall activities. at the early morning pep rallies, the texans would do their own special cheer "arkansas" and they would award the spirit stick to the class judged to be the loudest and most spirited. before every football game, they would present the colors during the national anthem and then they would set up the breakthrough that they had constructed for the team to run through. during the games, a texan would wave the flag that has become their official symbol.

however, athletic events were only a part of the busy fall season. at the annual veterans' day assembly, the texans played the major role. the texans' and texanns' float won third place in the 1972 homecoming parade. texanns found the fall season a very active one.







1. at the first football game of the year, larry swofford raises the texas flag. 2. mr. fisher, texan sponsor, hands senior, robert downes, a certificate making him a member of texans. 3. charles carter, this year's marshall, in a solemn moment at one of the texans' weekly meetings. 4. a sophomore member, tony limbaugh, adds to the noise after a touchdown. 5. as a climax to pre-game ceremonies, the texans march the six flags of texas across the field. 6. at every pep rally, the texans joined together to lead the cheer "arkansas."

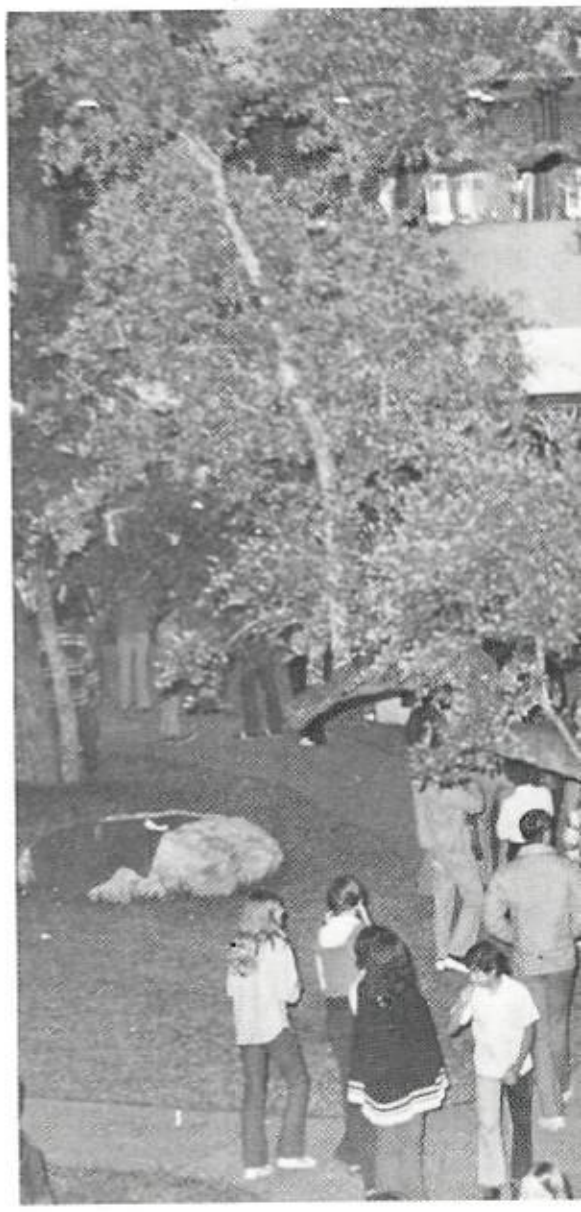
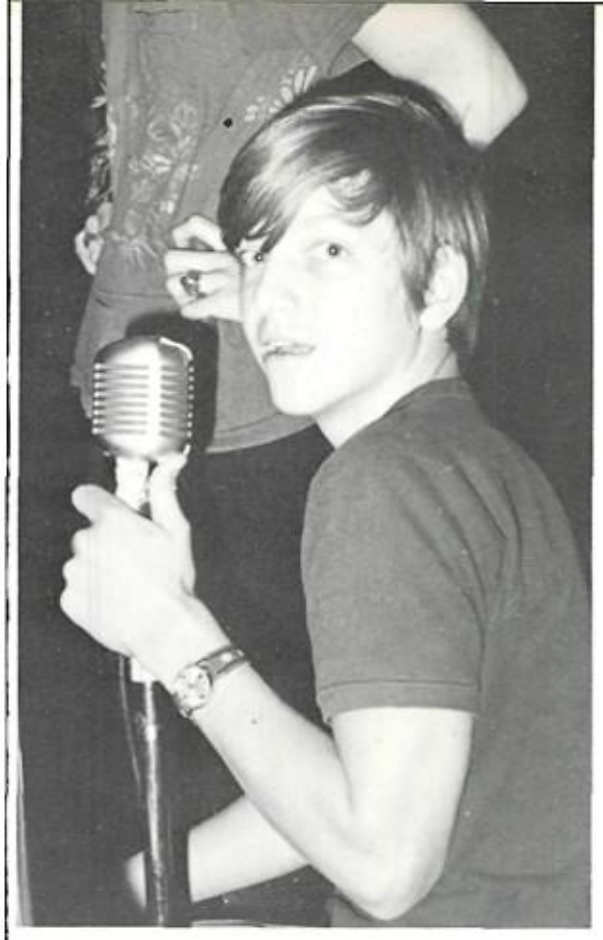
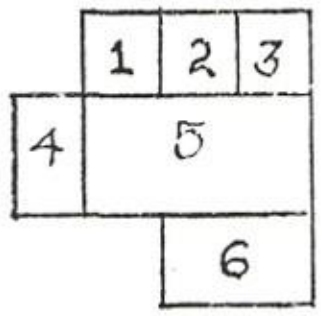
the crockett concert choir sang a new tune that echoed throughout the halls of the school called "we're on our way to europe." besides the bake sales, whose pies and cakes warmed cougar tummies each month of the fall, the choir hosted the first cougar country fair to help raise money for the trip. the event transformed the courtyard into a delightful place producing airs of the old west and a cotton-candy carnival.

the gala proved successful as cougars were spooked by the texans version of a haunted house located in the tunnels under the school. other delights included being stuffed with delicious delicacies and satisfied with specialties such as a basketball throw, a cake walk, a fortune teller, and a dipping vat. the evening was even worth the entire saturday choir members spent cleaning up the aftermath.







1. taking a chance is the whole point of the penny toss. 2. chief emcee for the evening, randy donnelson, keeps events running smoothly. 3. old number 19, tim canady, gets ready for an unexpected splash. 4. gasoline alley, sue ann moore to some folks, exhibits another phase of her musical talent as she runs the recorder for the cakewalk. 5. having its location in the center of the courtyard, the dipping vat managed to pull in a large number of spectators. 6. mrs. kemptner sells those flowers to help send her daughter to europe.

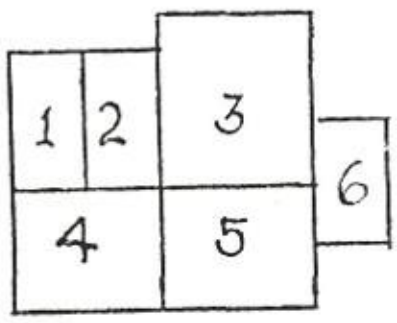
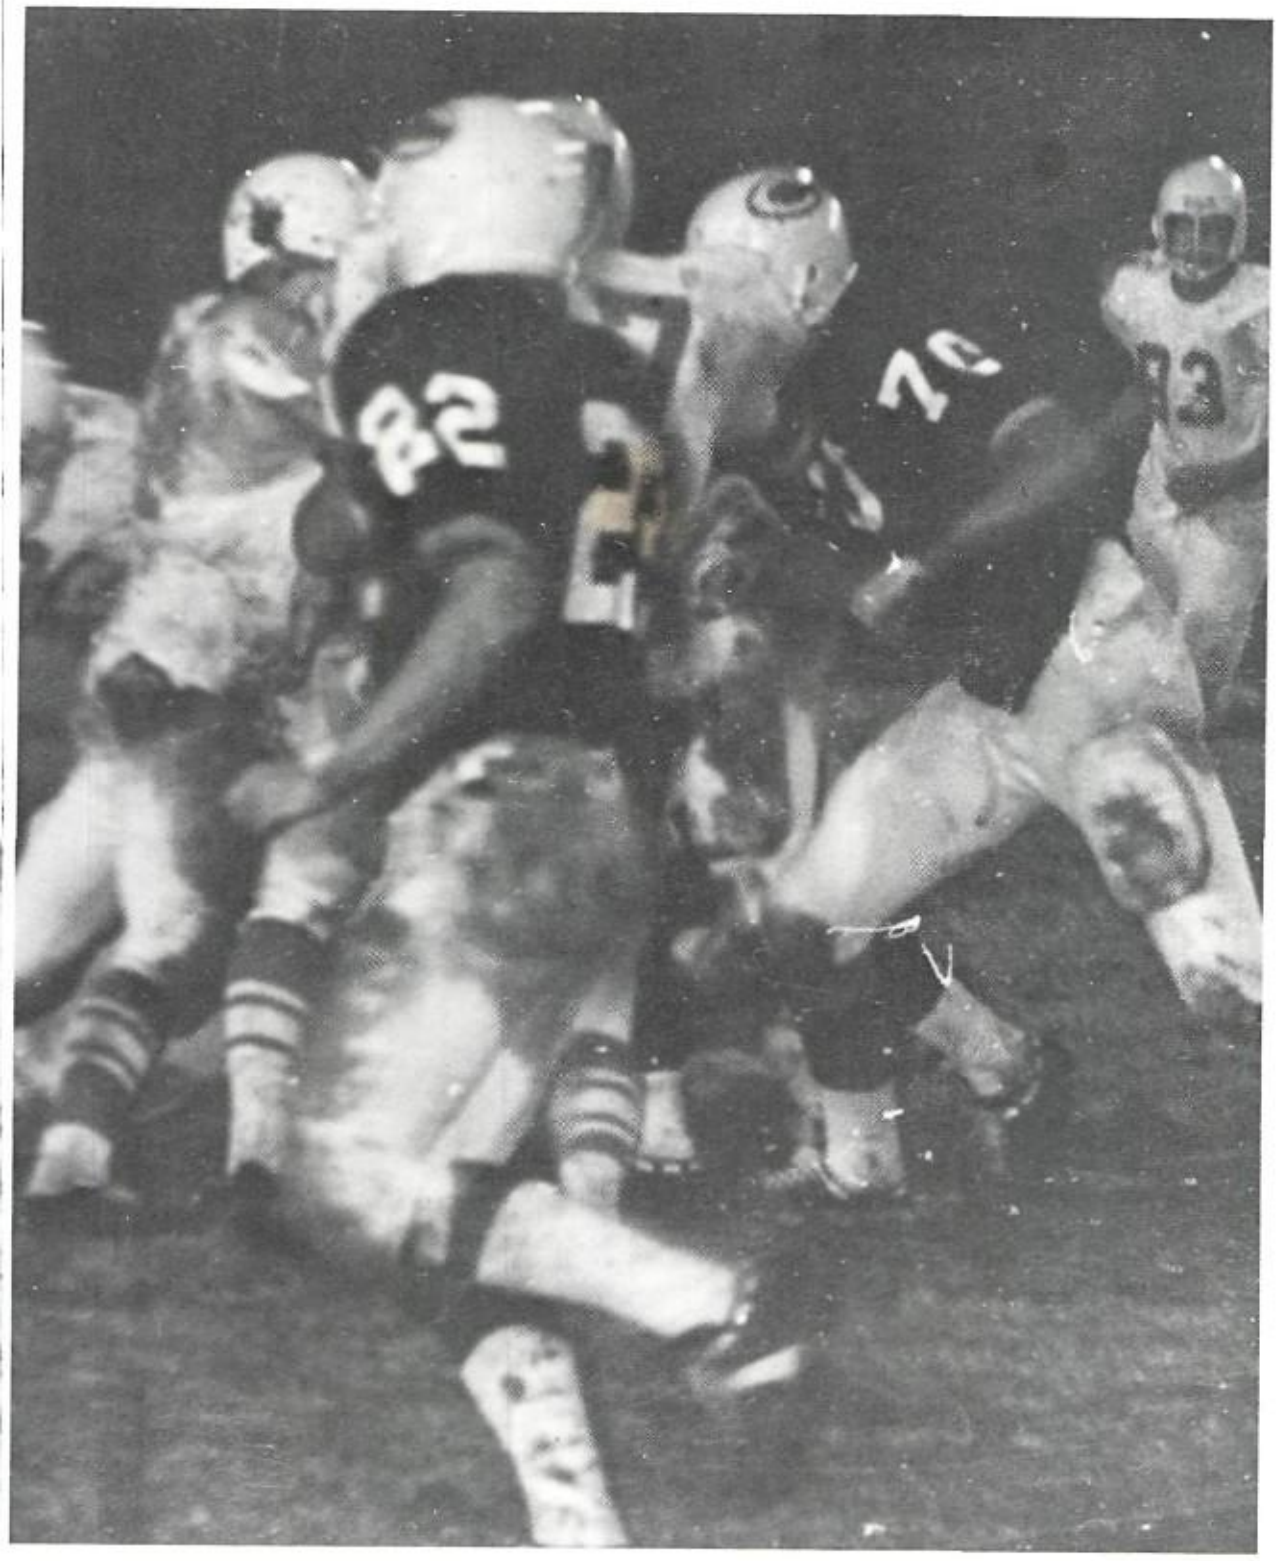
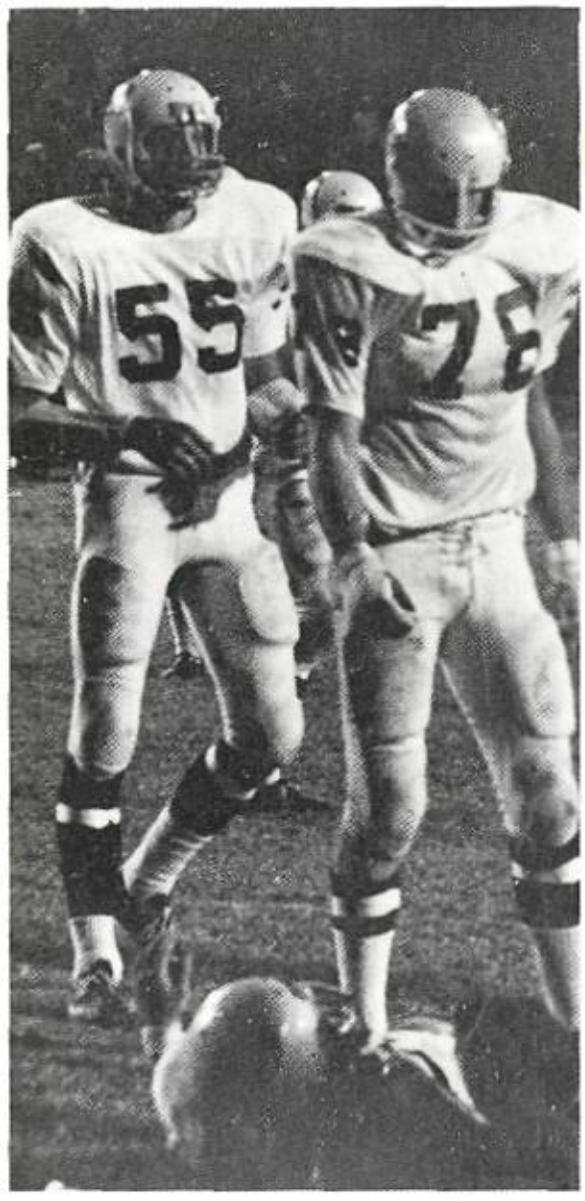
1. scott branyon was quarterback for the 1972 coogs. 2. kyle spillar gets set to pop reagan back. 3. cougars move in to stop ballcarrier. 4. david mathews guards coog back. 5. terry henninger shows form during field goal attempt. 6. scott branyon throws on the run.





coach jimmy munson had his high hopes come true during the 1972 football season. crockett finished the year at 5-5, but this figure does not accurately represent the pride and determination shown by the cougar football team. crockett's record was based mainly on a strong defense that gave points grudgingly. crockett's offense was slightly less than potent, losing its strength mainly through fumbles and interceptions. crockett had its best finish ever, placing third in district. the coogs were 3-3 in district, beating travis, lanier and austin. crockett lost to reagan, mc callum, and johnston. reagan won district with a clean slate. three cougars won district laurels, grady pennell, bill jansen and terry henninger.



1. larry scholtz and bedford holmes tower over opposition. 2. crockett coach lonnie jackson ponders over next play. 3. scott branyon hands off to mickey wranischer. 4. gary taylor and lee ray waites get ready to knock heads. 5. coogs scramble for loose ball. 6. jimmy munson, head coach, anxiously awaits outcome.

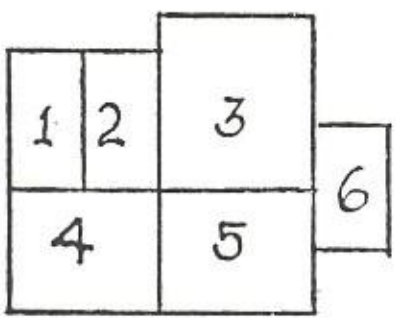
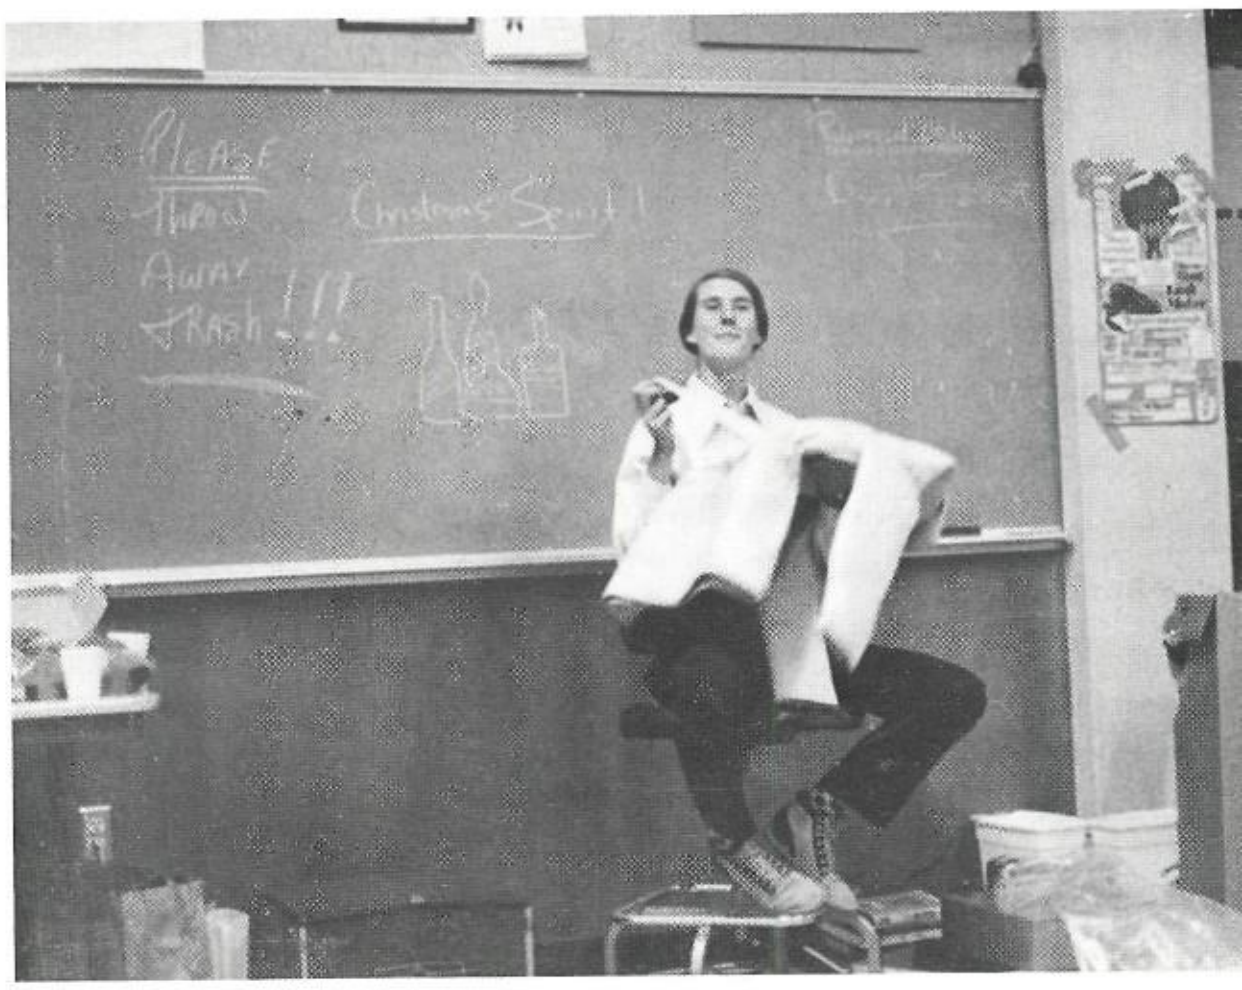
christmas is a time of happiness and good cheer. it is a time to tell that special someone that you really cherish his friendship. it is the time to gather the family together to decorate the christmas tree. it is a time of closeness to god. crockett was not without its share of christmas spirit this year.

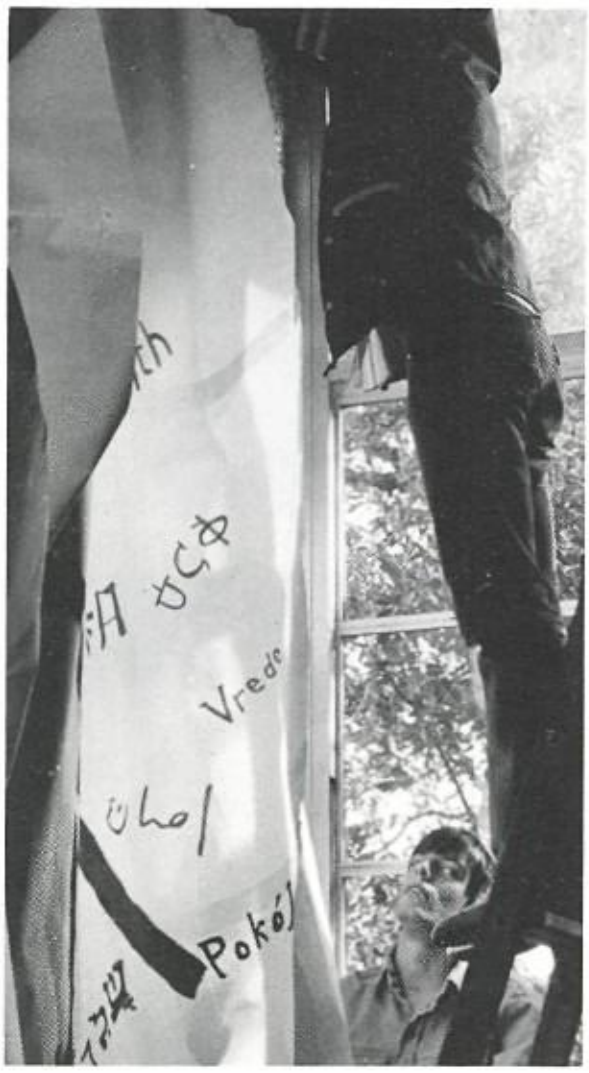
decorations brightened the courtyard and happy voices singing christmas carols echoed through the halls. everyone loves a jolly santa claus, but the overriding atmosphere at crockett was a deeper and perhaps more mature "joy" in the true ideas of christmas.

1. a first in crockett's history: a permanent christmas tree purchased by the student council. 2. yes, ronny, you really have just won the santa for a day contest! 3. miss crider, an enthusiastic ski buff, is pleased with the parka she received as a christmas present from the band.





4. one of the biggest attractions around at christmastime in austin is the big christmas tree in zilker park. its lighting has become an annual event. 5. everyone knows that being a band member has a lot of benefits, such as: food! mark blangger looks a little afraid that there won't be any left for him. 6. the texans christmas project this year was three huge signs bidding "merry christmas" in a variety of ways. the final step was hanging them up.



1. looking up into the zilker christmas tree produces a kaleidoscope of colors which is uniquely beautiful. 2. some of the decorations that decorated the courtyard were two tall candles. student council members worked hard mounting them. 3. mr. fisher and one of his texans put the finishing touches on one of the christmas signs. 4. one would not expect a christmas tree to reflect a country, but this one effectively signifies the simplicity and beauty of our country and the love we feel for it. 5. the texans had a little something for everybody here. it was a "texas-sized" christmas card! 6. santa wants a kiss for christmas, but mrs. holt refuses until he shows her where he parks his magic reindeer. (ho ho ho! he'll never tell!)

DRAGS ON TO

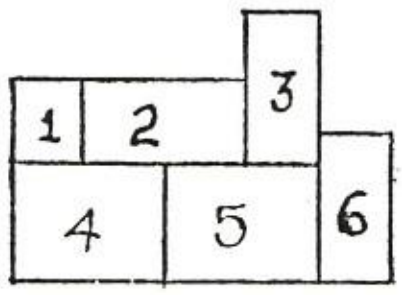
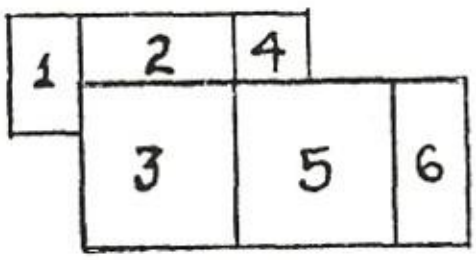
winter 1973 provided a rare treat for most of central texas. students missed a total of five days because of snow and ice. as soon as the radio announcer said that there would be no school for the day, all able south austin students rushed outside to enjoy the weather. people who were lucky enough to own sleds or snow skis made good use of them, while others simply used what was available: plywood, boat cushions, cardboard, water skis, and even trash can lids! in most places the snow was too powdery for sculpture, but nevertheless, enthusiastic souls tried their hand at snowmen, angels-in-the-snow, and we hear that there were some pretty ferocious snowball fights. all in all, it was quite a change of pace from the usual southern winter.



1. a group of girls take a rest from the hard mornings workout on their genuine, imitation cardboard snowmobiles. 2. on wilke drive hill, the hot spot for the snow set, even the dogs get into the act. "dolly" tadlock seems to be enjoying herself. 3. on a makeshift sled, sara mayfield hurdles down her street at the breakneck speed of at least two feet a minute. 4. students living close to crockett visited the courtyard and enjoyed a good old snowball fight. bubba houston catches one right in the face! 5. a near casualty in our courtyard was the baby christmas tree. the cold weather was almost too much for it. 6. following almost every run down a snow covered hill was a backbreaking and usually hilarious crash. craig alexander tries to avoid being squashed by a tangle of bodies sliding uncontrollably down the hill. 7. huge pieces of plywood seemed to be a favorite. this one is on its way up for another load.

1. a panoramic view of austin in the snow is really a beautiful sight, but most people were more interested in getting out in it and playing while i lasted. 2. a rare sight this far south is a leaf covered with ice. we all found ourselves wishing that it snowed here every winter. 3. even the courtyarc at crockett takes on a new beauty with a fresh blanket of white snow on the ground . . . the snow we had, though it caused an inconvenience tc many, was a real treat, and an experience we will all long remember.



4. the sister of crockett student lance scritchfield demonstrates the proper way to ride a sled. it doesn't look that hard, now, does it? 5. in honor of the occasion crockett students staged the "austin winter olympics." one event was sled races. two sisters, maripat and sara mayfield, forget family ties and race each other down wilke drive. 6. another big event in the "austin winter olympics" was snow skiing. when asked how the ski weather was that day, maripat replied, "the powder's not too great, but that's o.k. i never thought i'd even come close to skiing in austin! now all we need is a lift. it's a long walk back up this hill!"

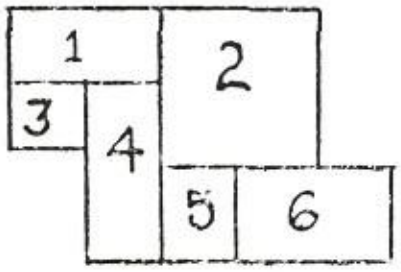
1. the 26aaaa district at their first pep rally. 2. "always victorious" fills the gym at the end of the pep rally. 3. cougar supporters. 4. joe miles, basketball coach, "tells it like it is." 5. tory matthews plays his tuba. 6. sophomore cougars group together in their own section of the gym.



the joy of the traditional cap and gown was relived by mid-term graduates, held in the municipal auditorium. the commencement saw seniors from every high school turn their tassels from the right side to the left. cougars watched 41 classmates receive their diplomas, and leave the halls of crockett to start a totally new stage of life.

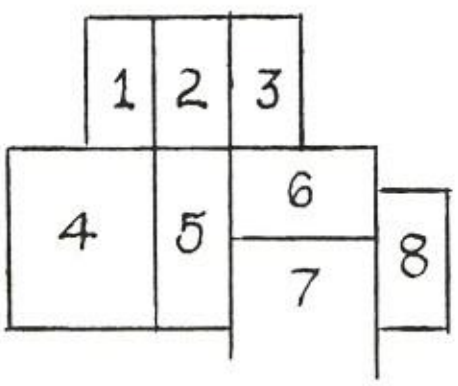
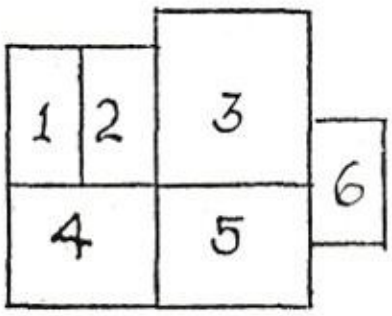
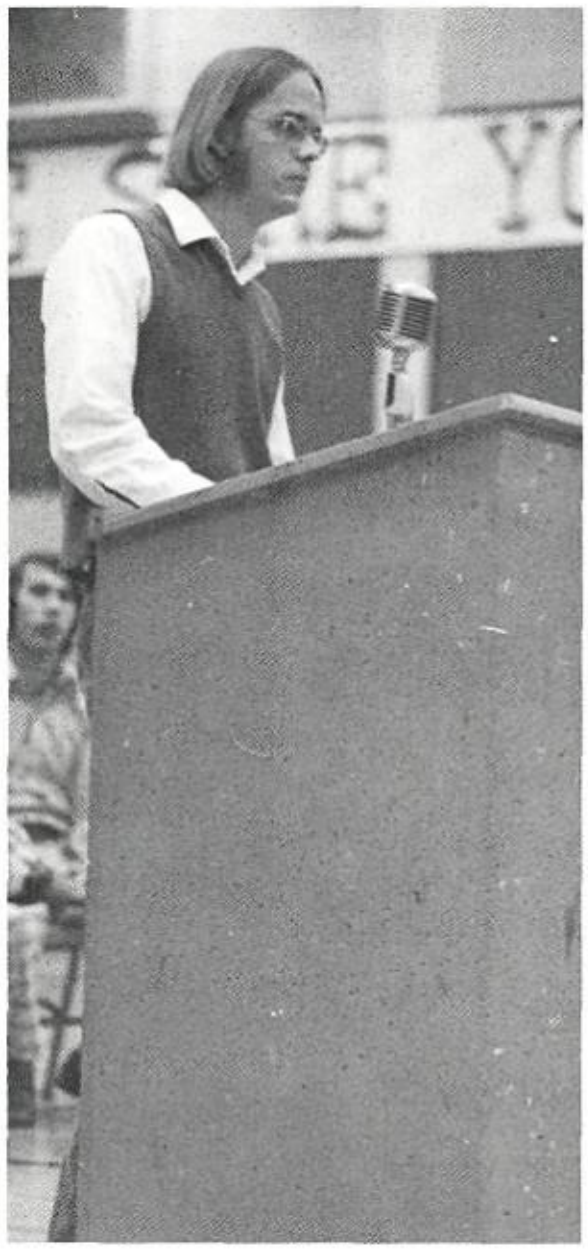
1, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8. crockett's mid-term graduates share the excitement of their special event. 2. mrs. carol mc clellen gives the commencement address to the graduating seniors. 7. graduates, parents, faculty, and friends enjoy the music of the johnston high choir and band.

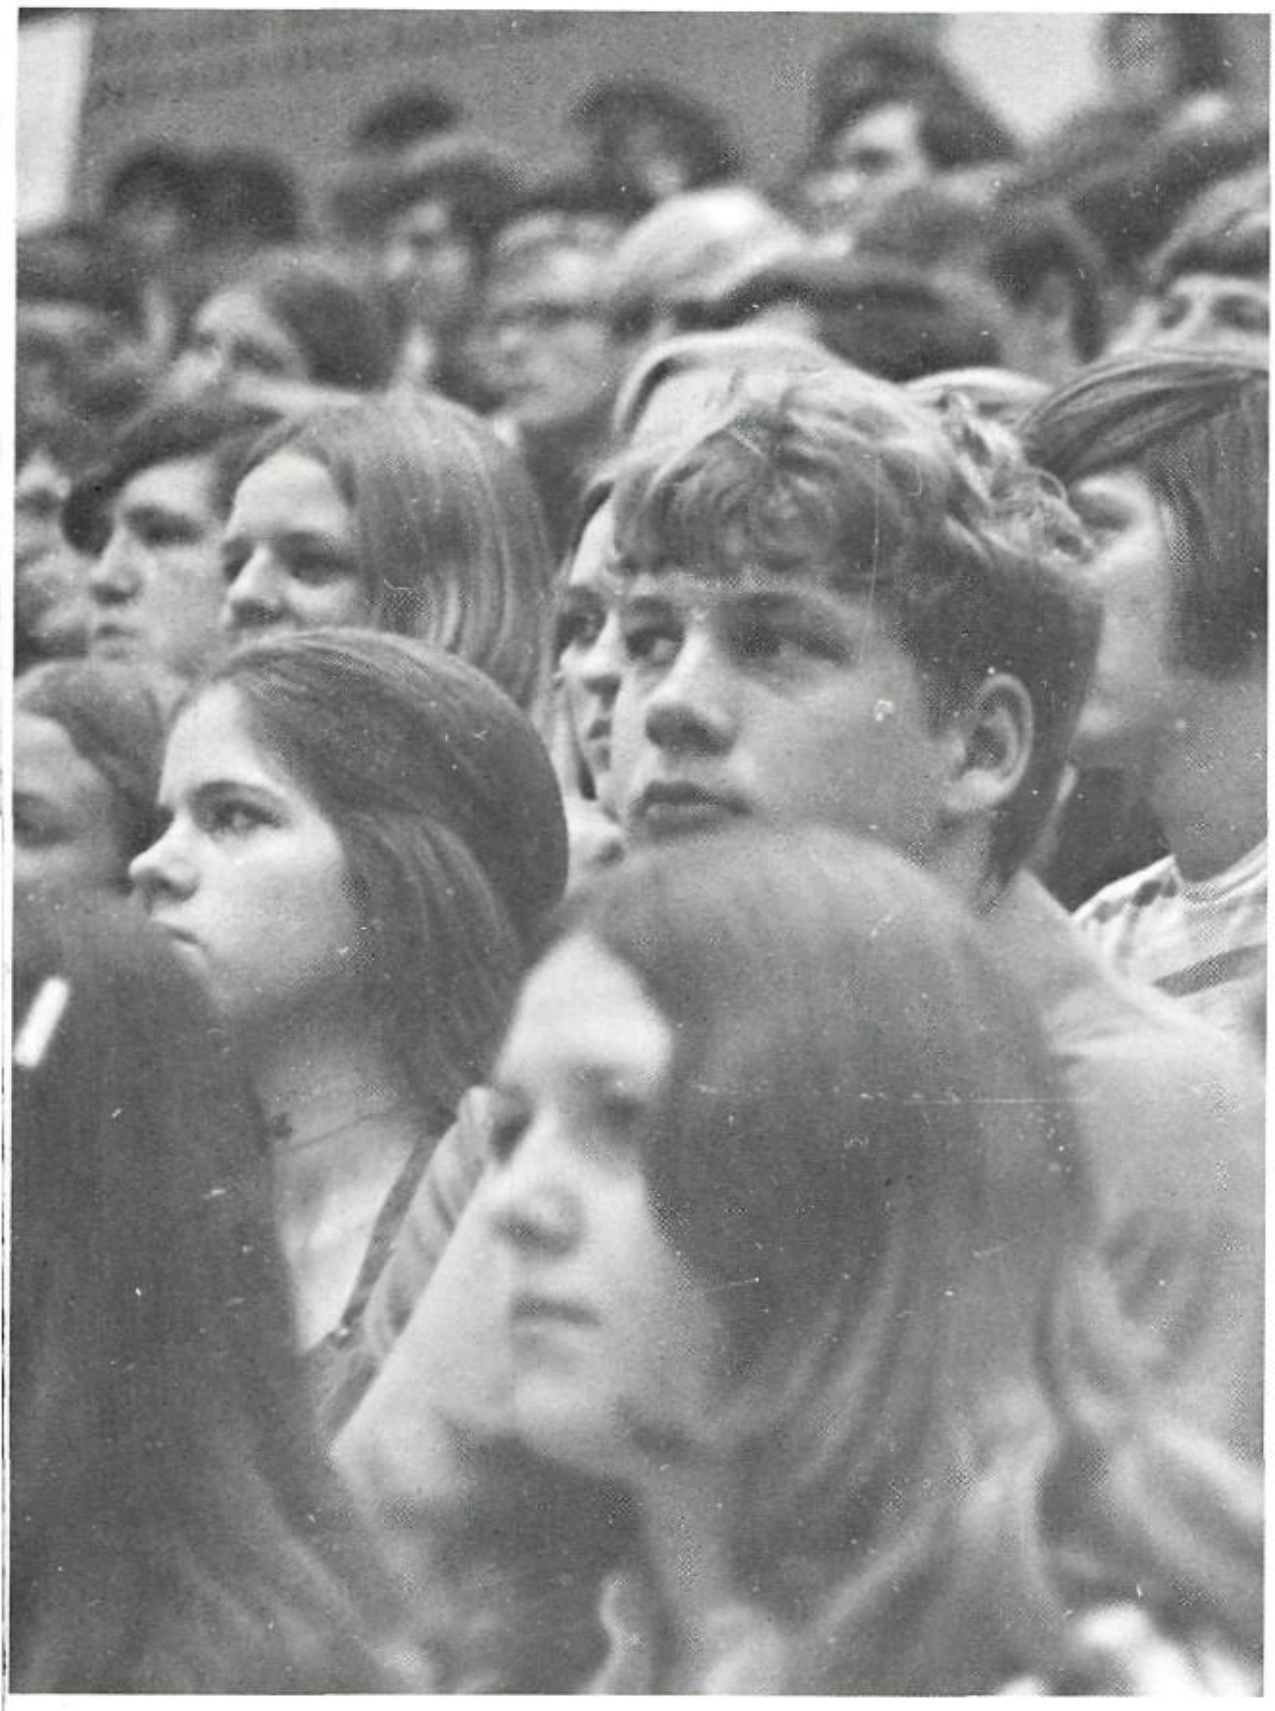


council gets new leaders



1. charles ray concludes his speech on a somber note. 2. tim canady makes a point. 3. students listen intently to one of the candidates speak. 4. council members spent hours upon hours counting and recounting ballots. 5. travis mc clendon, ethel coffee, pete linton, and allan shoen relax for a moment before they are called upon to give their speeches. 6. dickie copeland makes a bid for the vice-presidency.





crockett's bi-annual student council elections took a different turn this year. when all the speeches had been made and all the ballots had been counted, charles ray was declared president and dickie copeland was named vice-president. then, because of an obscure school board policy stating that officers had to have been at school a year, charles had to step down. in the second elections, dickie copeland became president and greg bustin won the vice-presidential spot.

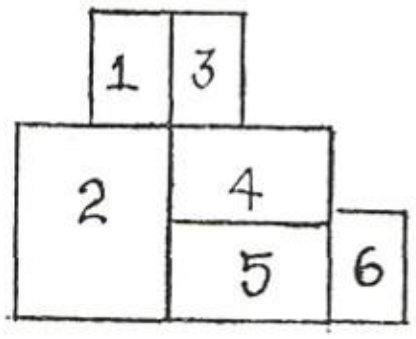
island paradise was the setting for the fifth annual crockett cotillion held at the commodore perry hotel february 3. hosting the event, the tex-anns decorated the place with bikinis, masks, spears, and nets hanging on the walls, brilliantly colored tropical flowers covering a romantic little bridge, and a cozy grass shack set opposite a volcano. the entire setting would have made any hawaiian feel right at home.

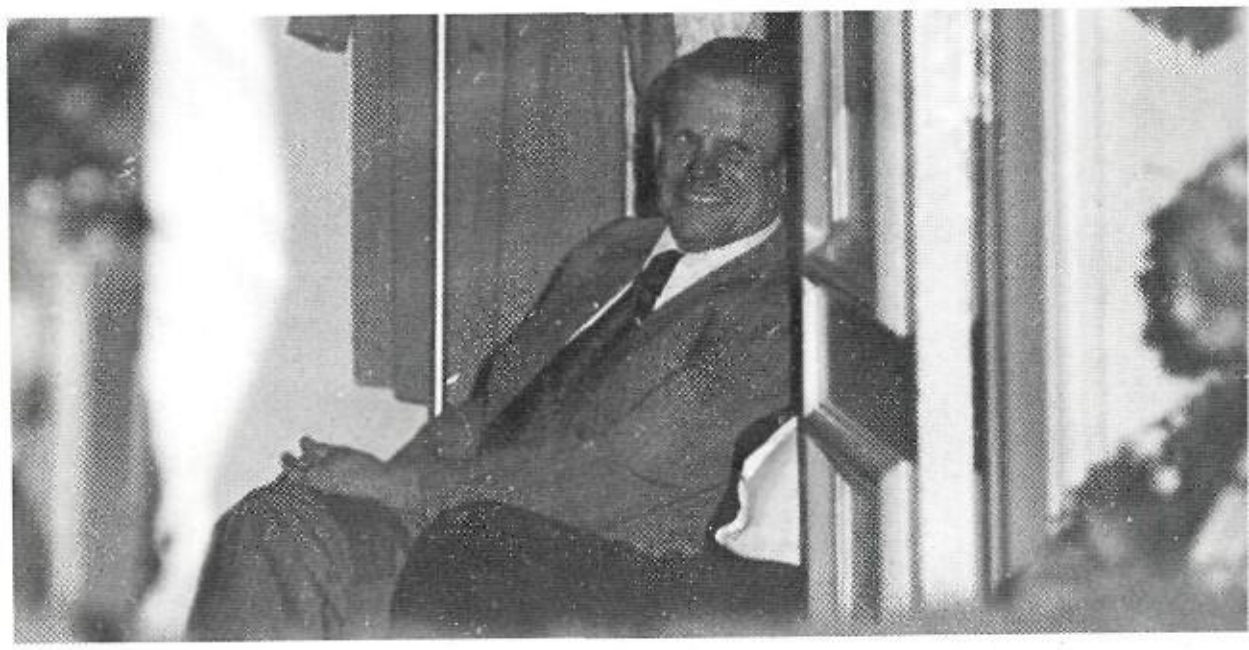
the climax of the evening came when the countess, count, and texan sweetheart were announced. tex-ann captain, mary bellemans, was crowned countess by last year's countess, sammilu harrison. fifty yellow roses were presented to the texan sweetheart, alice michie. rudy hicks was selected from four other senior boys as the official cotillion count.

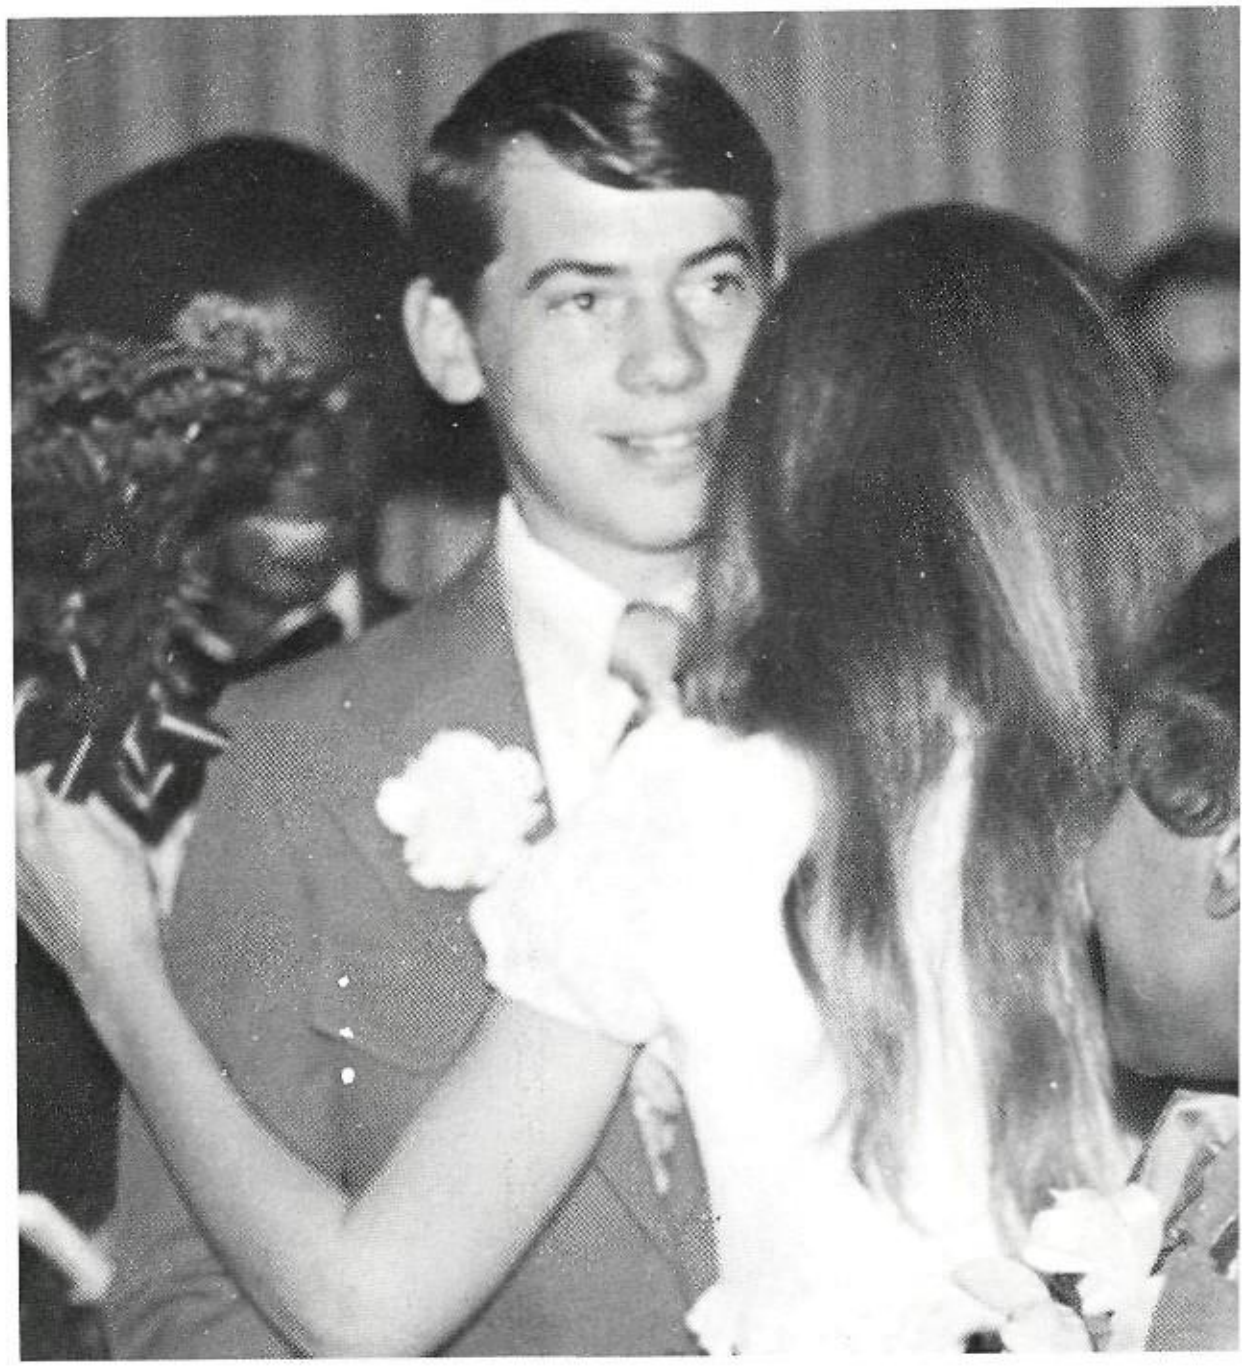
as they continued to dance, students, teachers, and dates enjoyed the music of carriage hill. the band's last medley of hits, popular songs from the 1950's put a nice ending on a pleasant island experience.

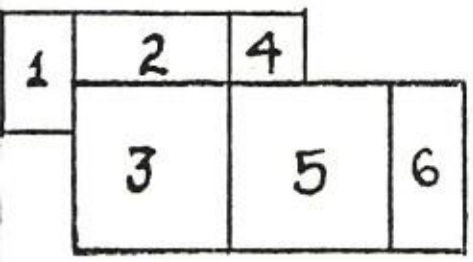
1. alice michie smiles proudly after being named texan sweetheart. 2. mr. fisher, texan sponsor, is proud of the new addition to the organization, mrs. daniels as honorary texan sweetheart. 3. some dancers take time out to watch the presentations. 4. nominees for texan sweetheart, brenda traugott, brenda ice, linda maurer, and maripat mayfield pose around mr. fisher, charles carter, and "sweetie" alice. 5. texans mickey powell and charles carter present a plaque and scroll to their honorary sweetheart, mrs. daniels. 6. marshall, charles carter presents last year's sweetheart, annette hunter, to the onlookers.



cotillion was a time for everyone

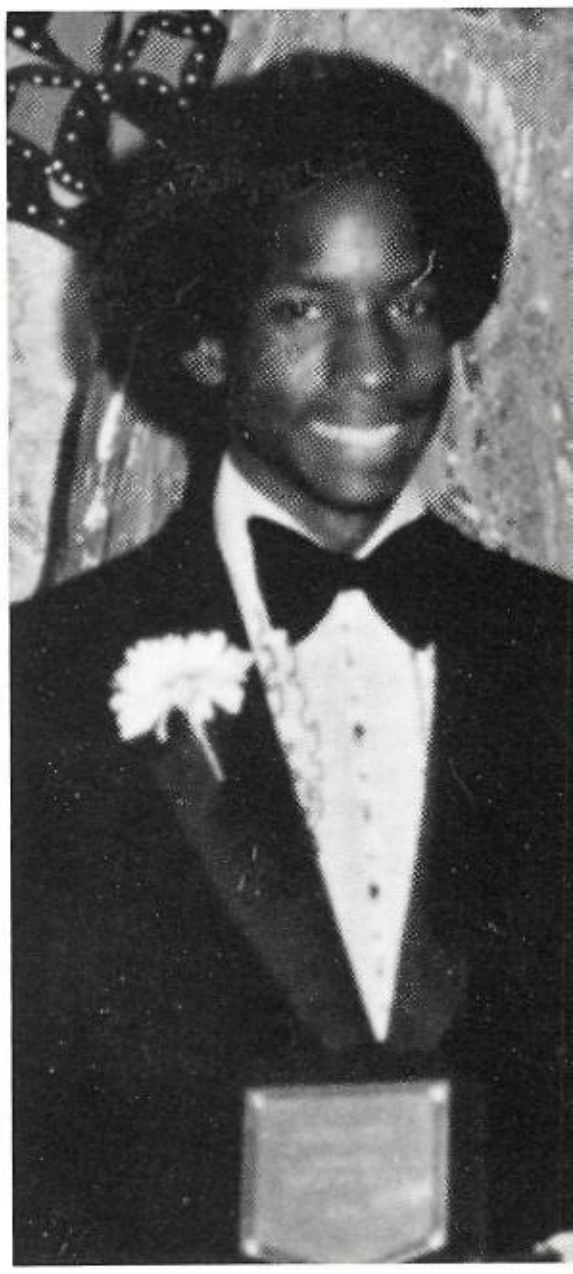






3. crockett ex, phil farris, enjoys dancing with his sweetheart. 2. what's this we hear, does mr. boren really like to keep company with the coats more than he likes to dance. 1. senior maripat mayfield takes care of last minute touch-ups right before her date arrives. 4. rudy hicks and greg bustin take time out to rest their aching feet with their dates. 6. greg robinson enjoys just being near his date. 5. senior debbie mc guckin and her date, doug kemptner, show how much couples can enjoy the cotillion.

tex-anns announce count and countess



1. count nominees, greg bustin and leon coffee take time to pose for photographers. 2. mickey powell and scott branyon patiently await announcement of cotillion count. 3. newly named countess, mary bellemans, and her runners-up, alice michie and cindy carpenter are pictured among all the nominees. 4. sammilu harrison congratulates her successor as she relinquishes her reign. 5. rudy hicks smiles with approval after he is named cotillion count. 6. mary glows with excitement as she clutches her bouquet of flowers.

1. bandsmen are entertained by some of ut's finest. 2. miss crider issues last minute instructions before the band travels to contest. 3. james flieller and lois adams clown around before ratings are announced. 4. the "pride of cougarland" is jubilant after their "perfect" rating is announced. 5. as miss crider would say, "are you playing that thing or attacking it?" 6. miss crider proudly tries on her christmas present from the band — a new ski jacket for her vacation.

the word "ecstatic" did not come near to explaining the excitement that gushed from the varsity cougar band that freezing cold day when it was announced that it was the only band to win sweepstakes. after the innumerable hours spent marching on practice field and perfecting countless songs, it was only fair that the bandhall should turn into the biggest frito and coke party ever on the following day. cougars even understood when they noticed quite a few bandsmen a different size — say about ten feet taller.

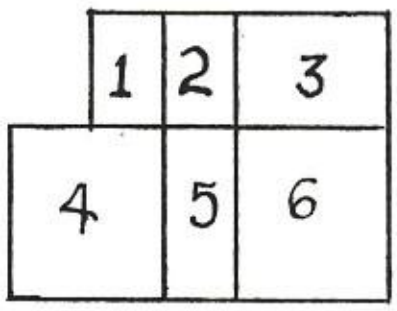
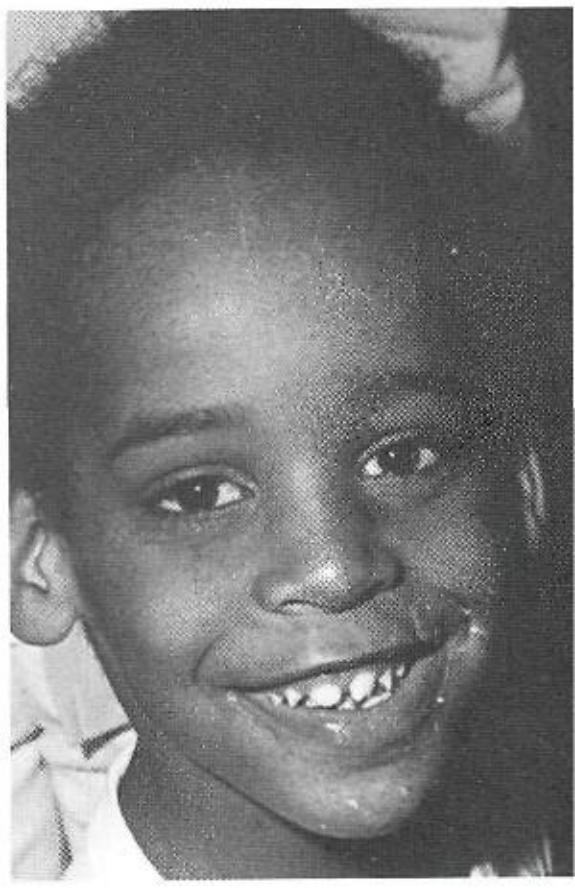
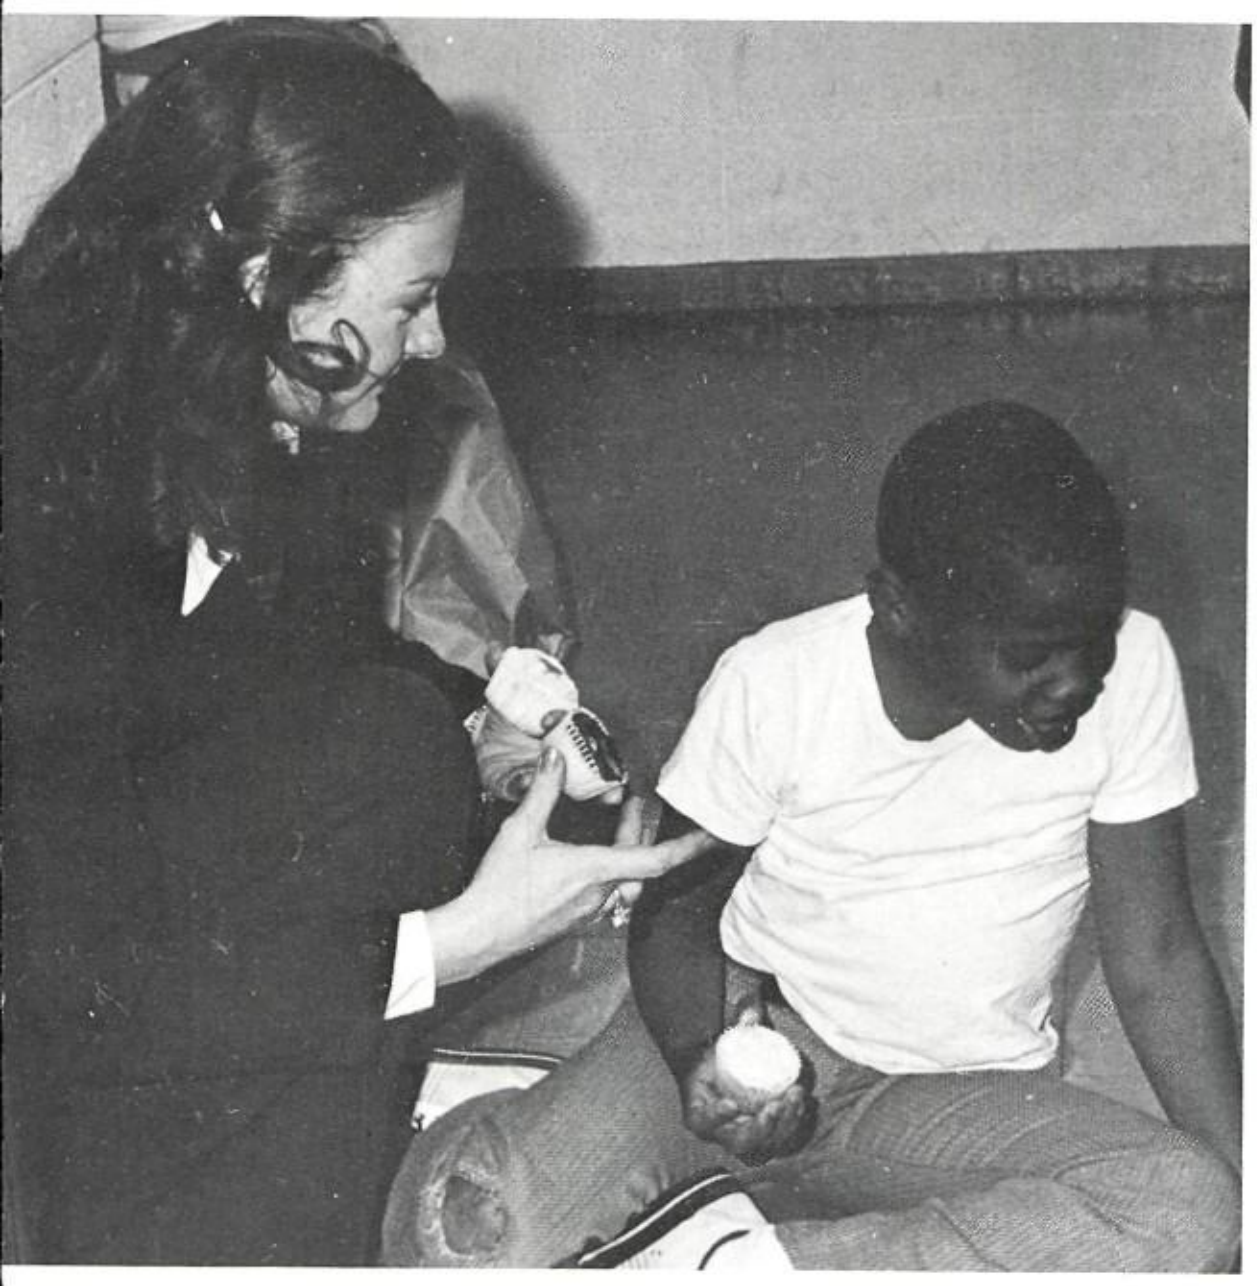
in the midst of a busy working schedule, deca members enjoyed an active winter. various contests were the main events on the agenda. at these the members had a chance to compete for positions in state and national competitions. a christmas party for the faculty was a nice highlight for the season. santa and his helpers even showed up for the event. without a doubt deca members did not hibernate for the winter.

fha hosts deaf school february 14

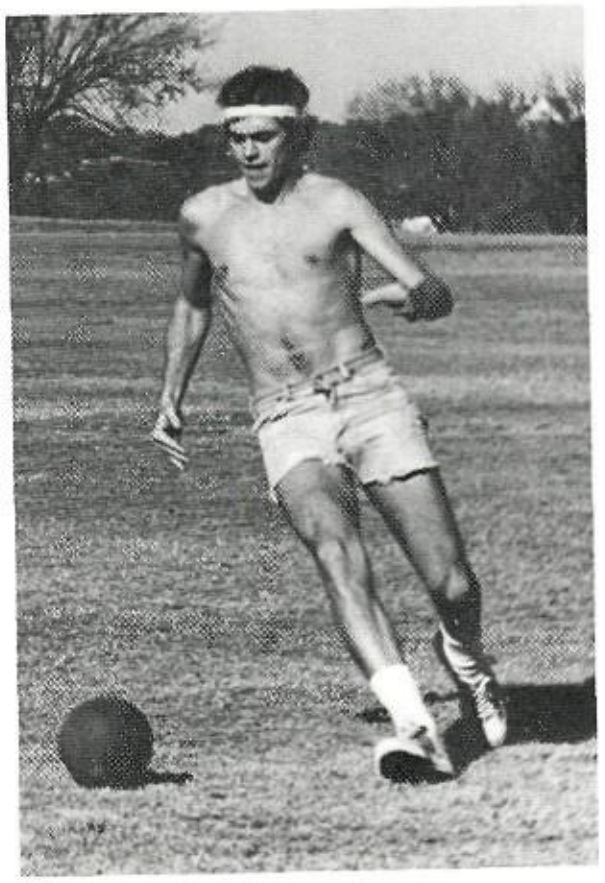
1. peggy beuershausen enjoys entertaining her valentine. 2. this youngster displays the joy the fha girls brought to him and his friends. 3. cindy godfrey gives out valentines. 4. cindy godfrey shows she cares about the happiness of others. 5. diane moore provides snacks for youngsters at the deaf school. 6. miss shape, student teacher for mrs. palmer, offers cupcakes to a young friend.

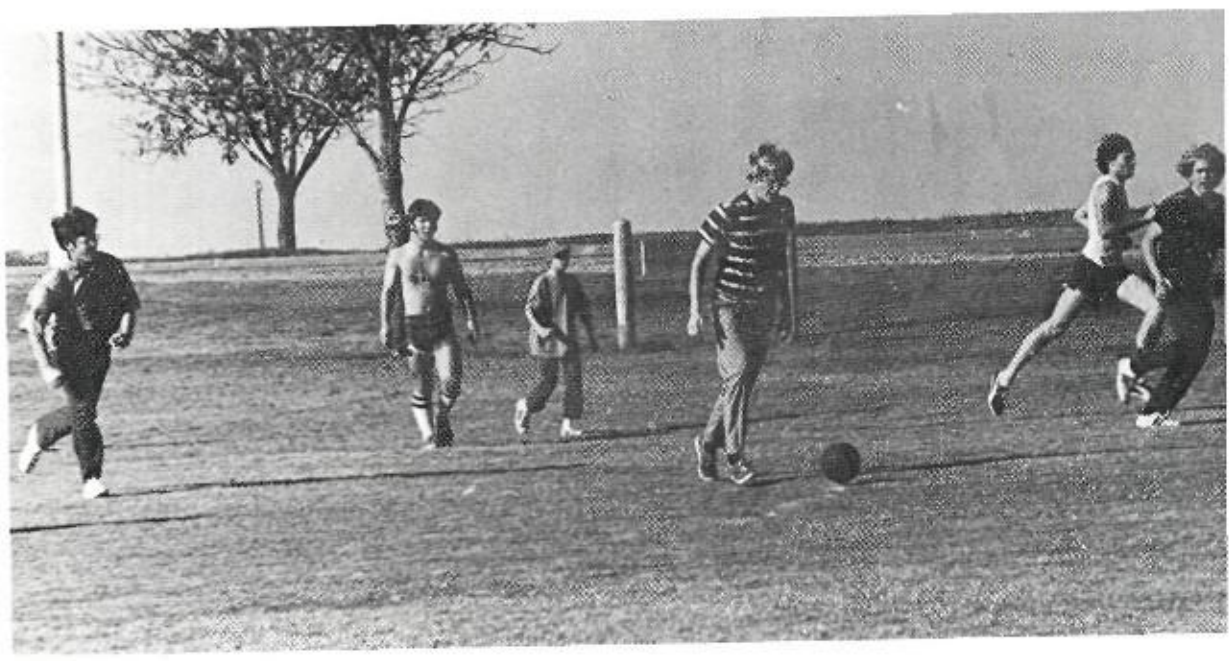


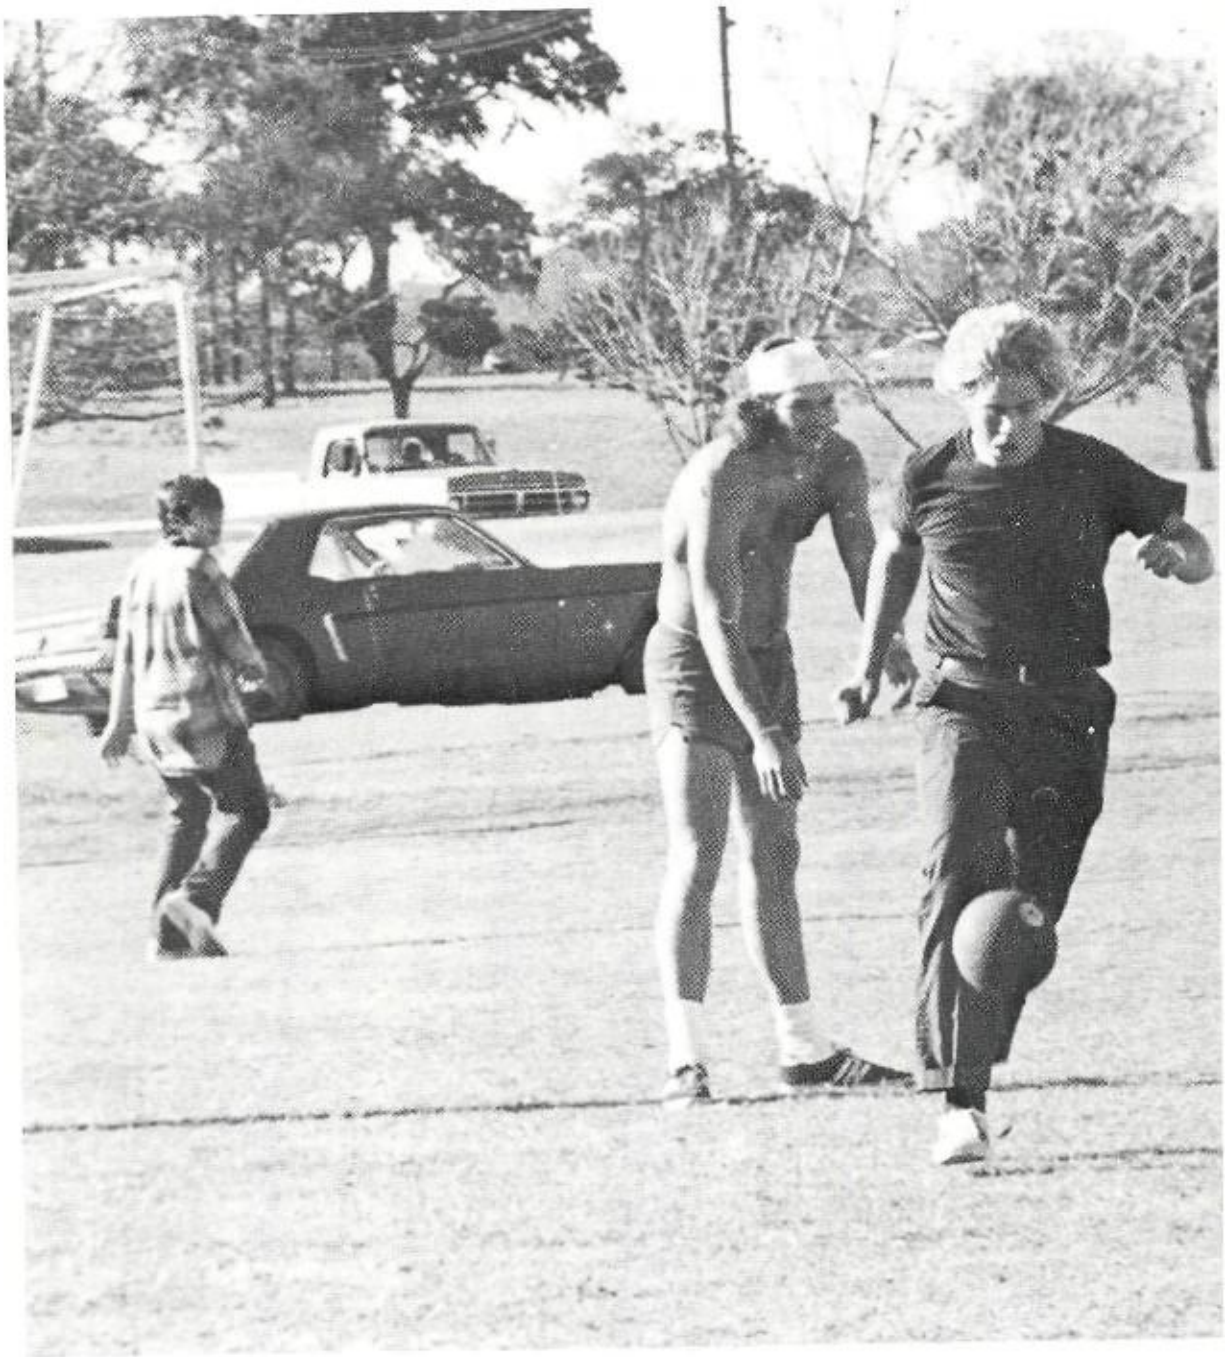




german club passes winter playing soccer







1. a beautiful non crockett student displays strength, skill, and fantastic body. 2. chris frentrup may be guilded in the classroom, but is awkward on the soccer field. 3. robert downes races the ball down the soccer field. 4. tim leblanc displays amazing grace while playing soccer with the german club soccer team at zilker park. 5. ricky frithioff lets it all go. 6. donald veselka surges forth kicking the ball in bounds from out of bounds where the ball always stays when the german club team always kicks it in the first place.

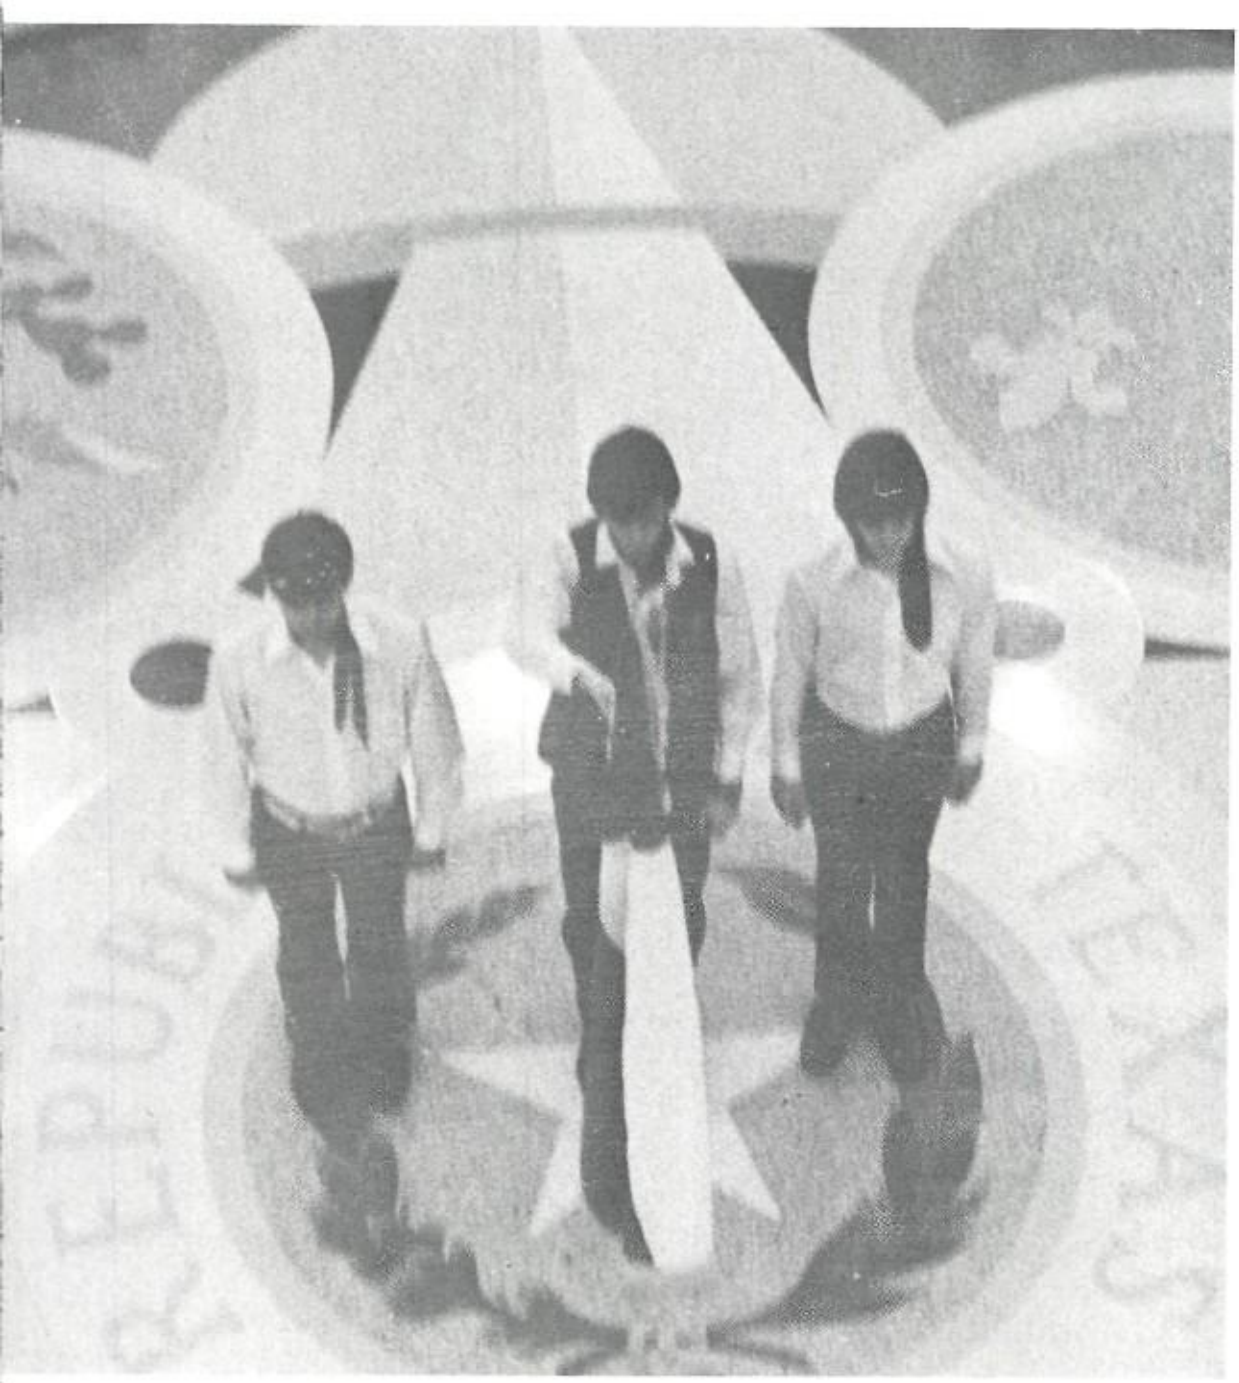
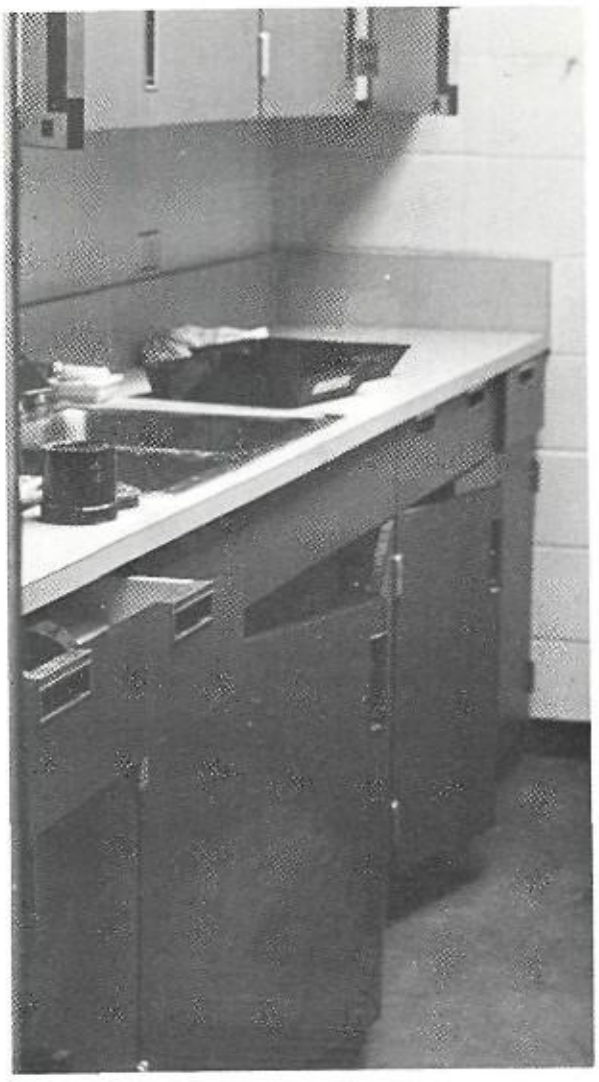
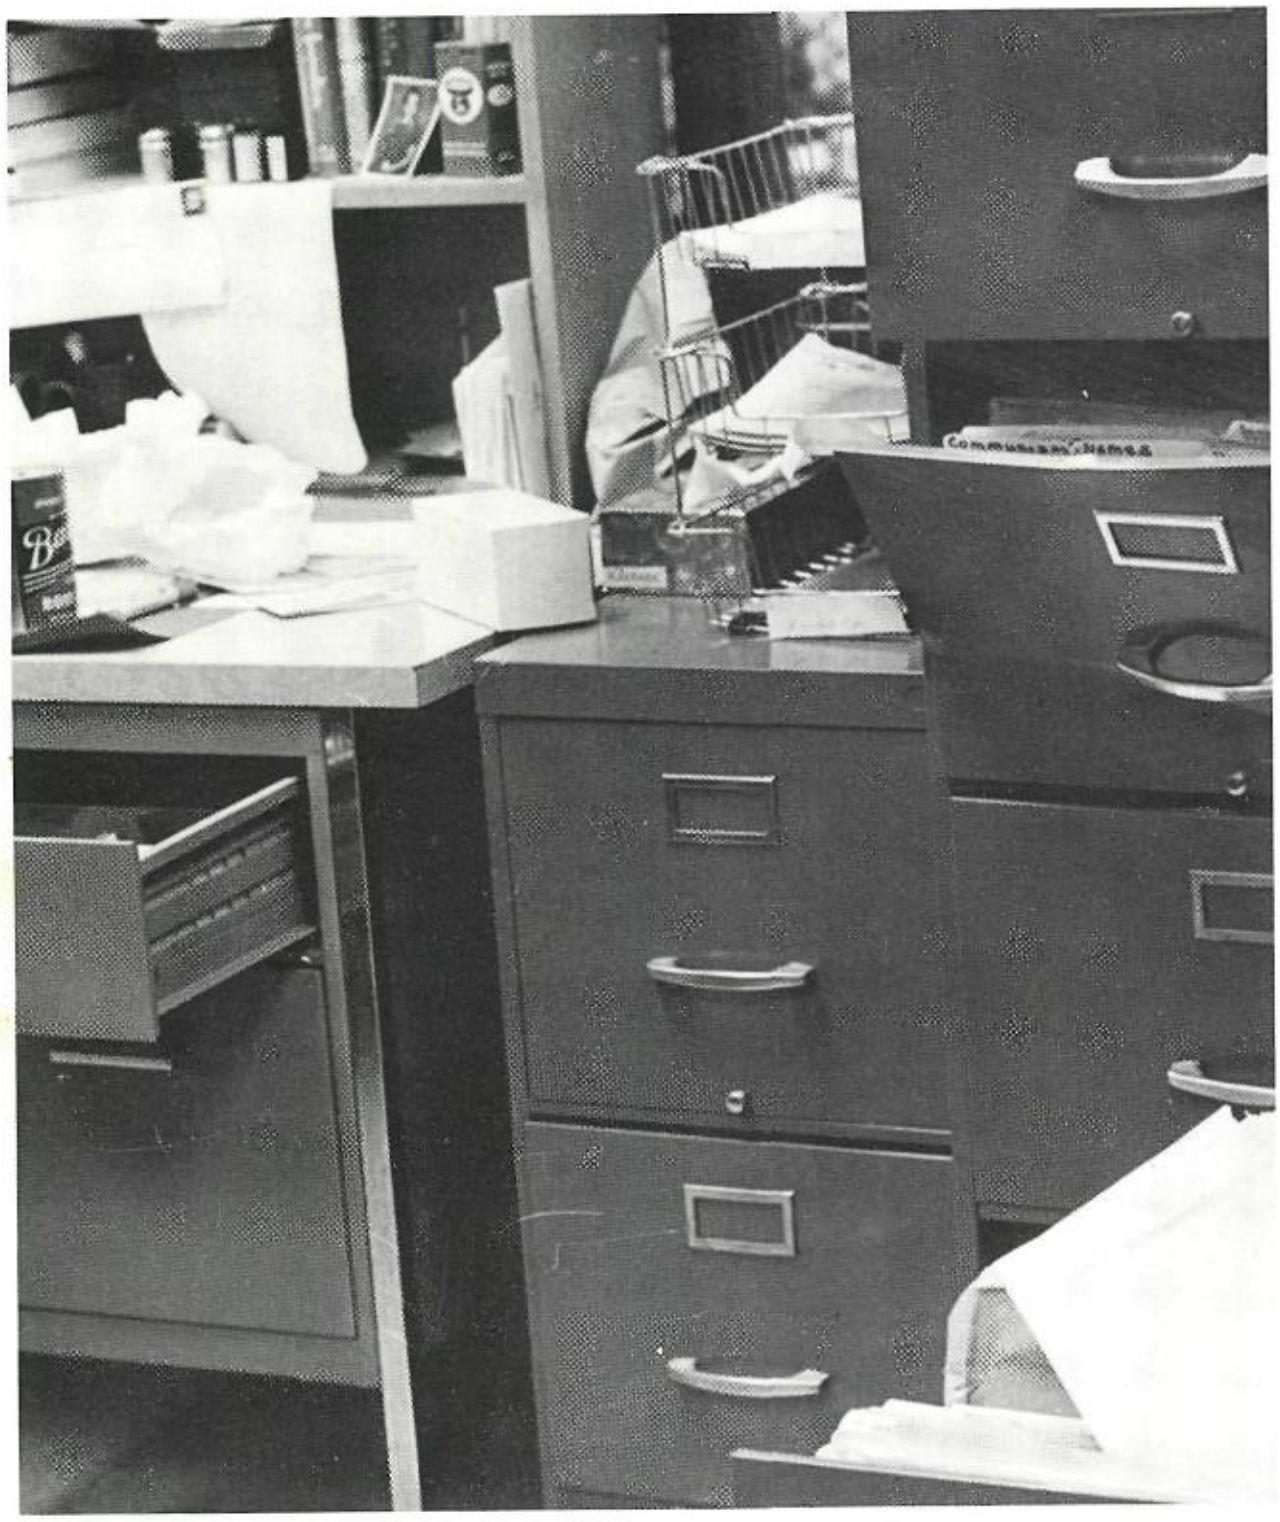
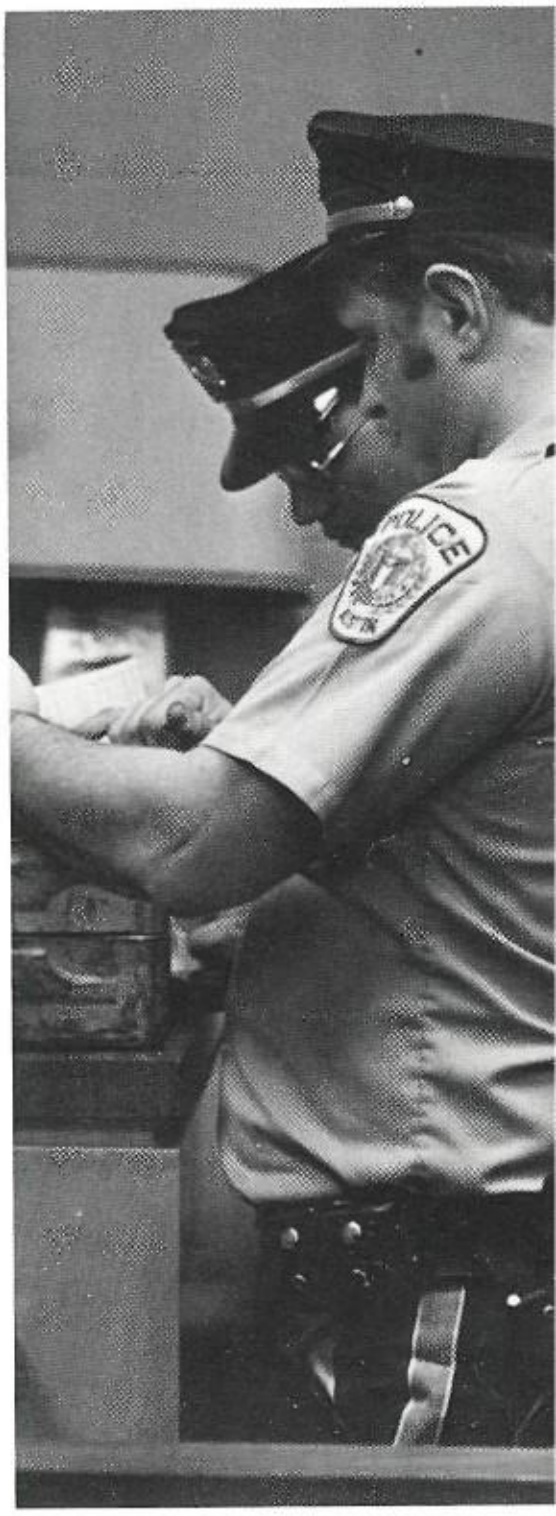
crockett celebrates texas independenc

the texas independence day ceremony has become an annual event. this year, once again, the texans hosted the ceremony "with a little help from their friends" — namely, choir, band, and student council. each of the six flags was presented in the ceremony in the capitol rotunda. crockett's band and choir performed several selections.



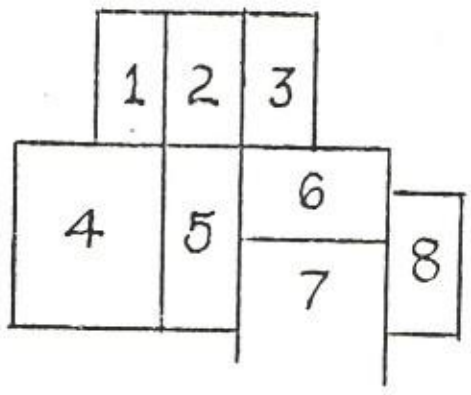


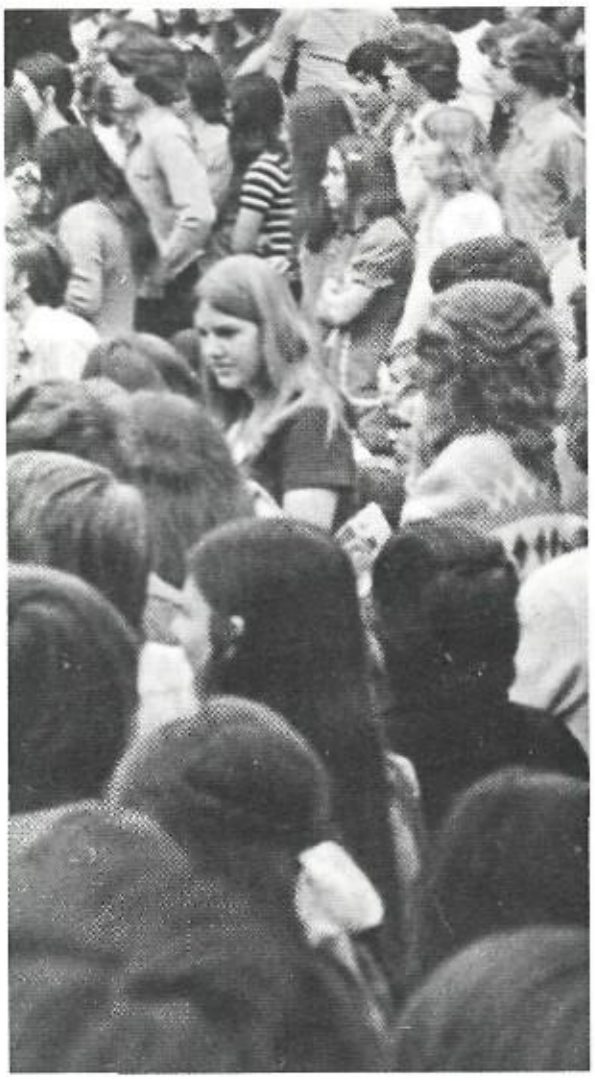


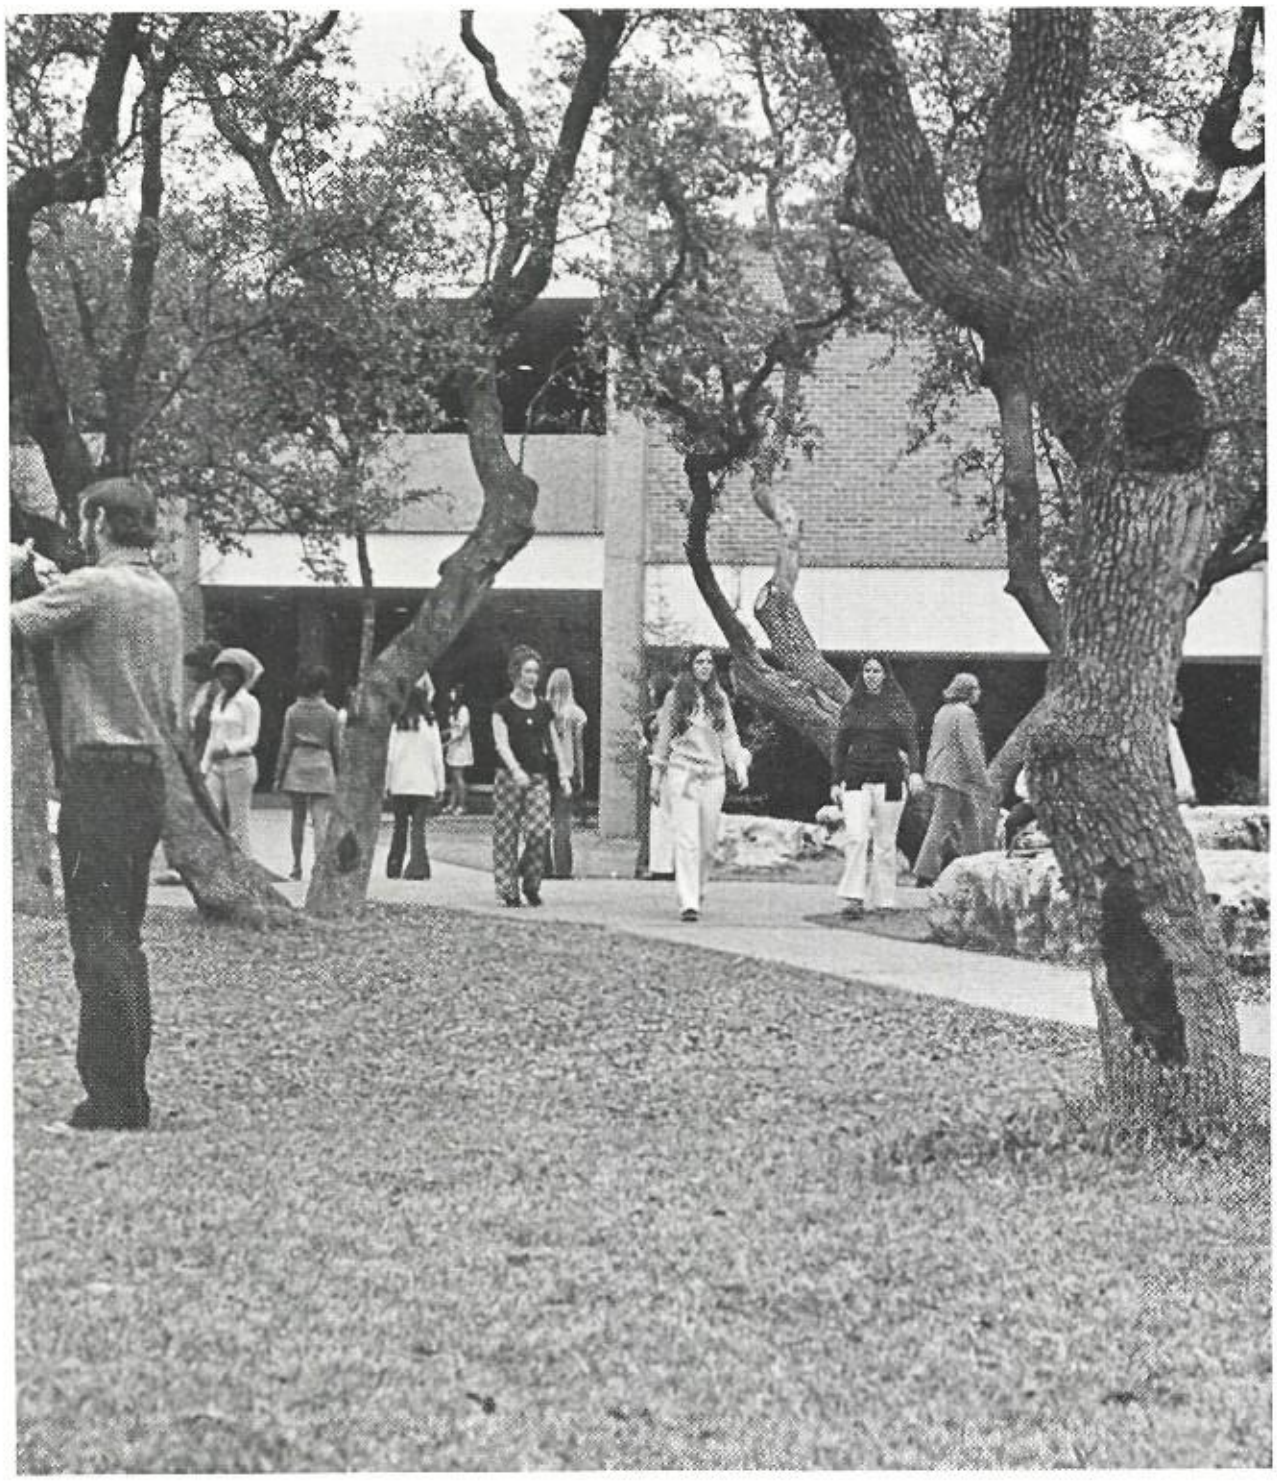


spring brings weird people and vandals

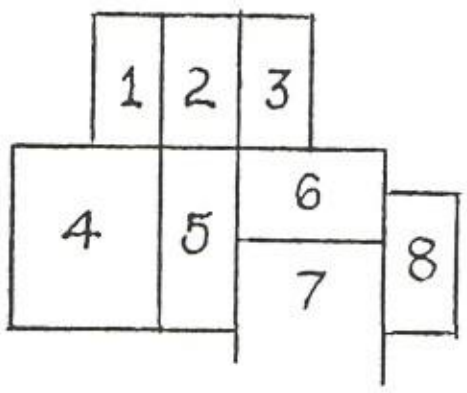
1. the crockett publications department darkroom was found in shambles after vandals broke in. 2. burglars must have spent their precious time using a crowbar from the looks of these filing cabinets. 3. mickey powell demonstrates how not to anger a bull. 4. because of vandals, publications was left without several cameras. 5. policemen become a familiar sight as they gather information pertaining to stolen articles. 6. crockett's sexiest dwarfs whistle their way over the river kwai. 7. the beatles, alias ajax and his white tornadoes, alias johnny flusher and his commodes, capture the student body's hearts once more at the european studies assembly. 8. texanns polka to old german folk songs at the european assembly.



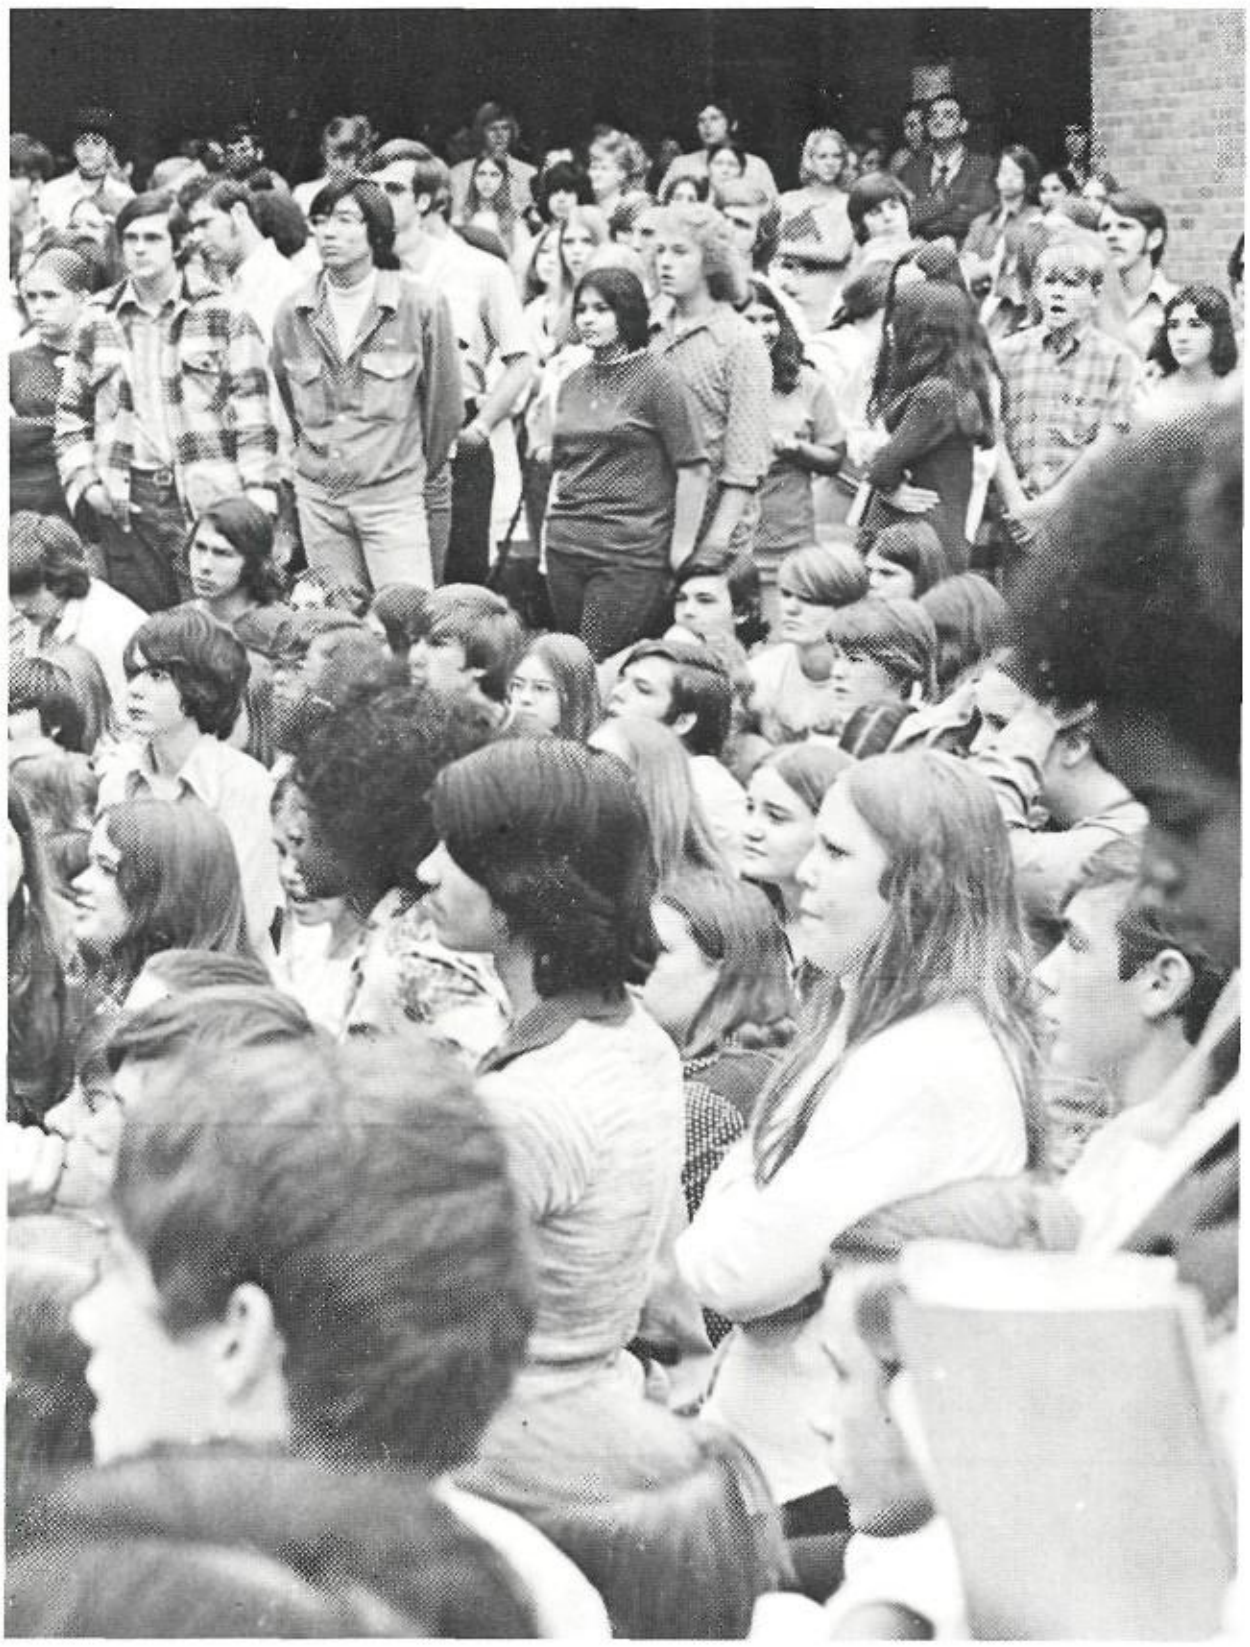




1, 6, 8. cougars watch "up with people" as they perform routines with their various songs. 2. the courtyard becomes a lounging area where students of all backgrounds have a chance to get to know each other. 3. with the help of european studies students, flags from almost every european country are displayed during the week. 4. a big job of decorating the courtyard was undertaken by the student body. 5. the texans colorful flags add much to the total effect of the scenery. 7. fashion show participants parade before onlookers proudly modeling their outfits.



world cultures merge at confluence of cultures week



crockett students joined to celebrate their heritage during a week of activities collectively called the confluence of culture week. having formerly celebrated western week and afro week separately in previous years the student council decided to combine the efforts and add other countries represented by students to the celebration. by attending morning assemblies and various all day displays on different cultures, students could enjoy the climax of the week, confluence day. a student-faculty fashion show of costumes from various countries led the day. the real treat came when cougars were surprised by a visit from the world renowned singing group, "up with people." all in all, the week presented a time of exploration into one another's history to attain a greater understanding of it.

long wait proves

the final decision comes from these judges as they look at one of the hopeful couples. sophomores art miles, steve weber, barton davis, and scott schaeffer seem more interested in the cameraman than the long awaited decision. singing at intermission with concert choir is senior debbie mc guckin. the choir was one of the various sounds of music at the '73 beauty revue.

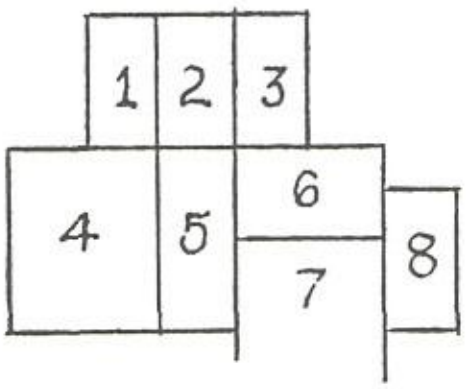
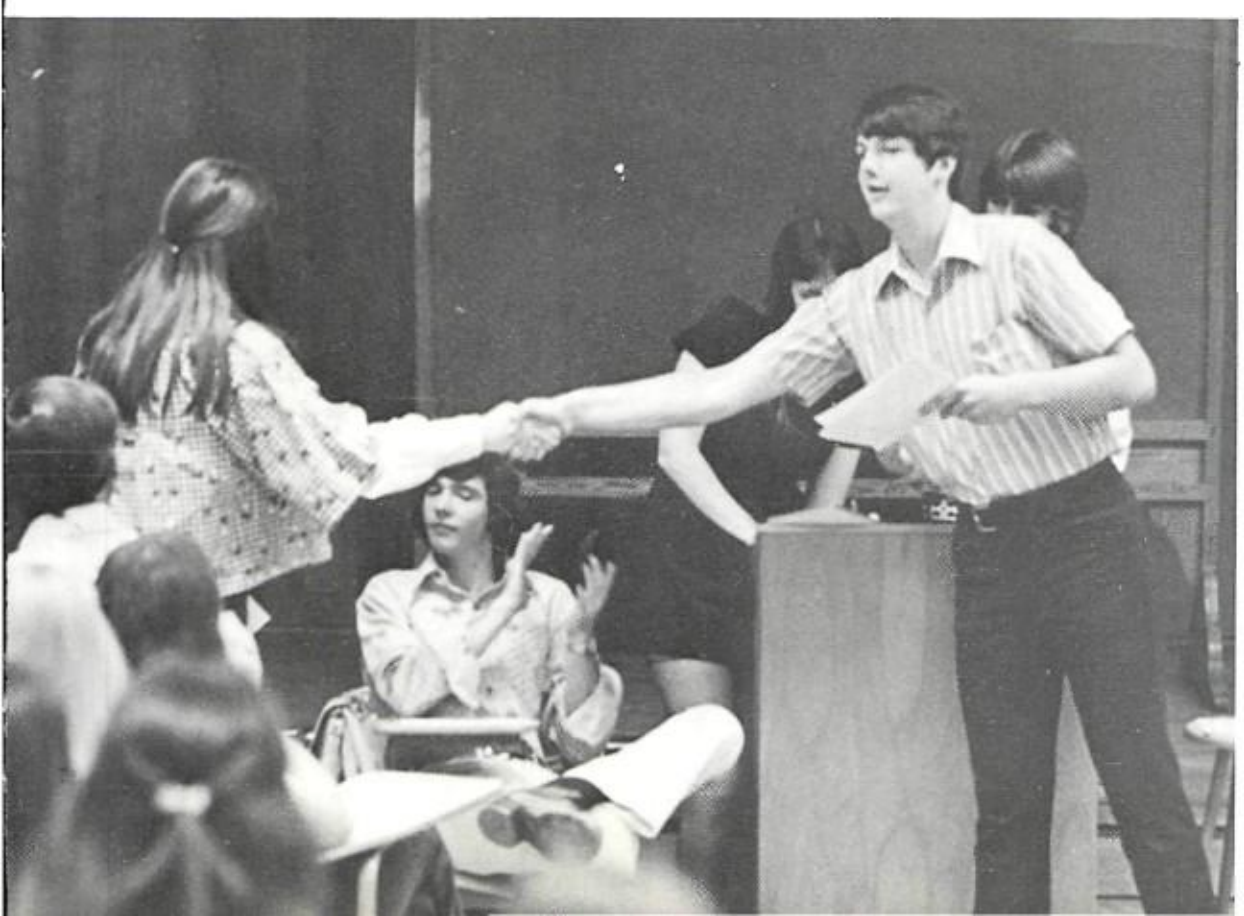
copeland/bustin spur council projects under the leadership of dickie copeland and greg bustin, the spring student council was very busy throughout the season. on april 6, they sponsored a spring dance. council was also involved in culture week. at its last meeting, student council honored various groups and individuals for their contributions to the school. karen tumulty, spring semester secretary, was awarded the $100 student council scholarship.

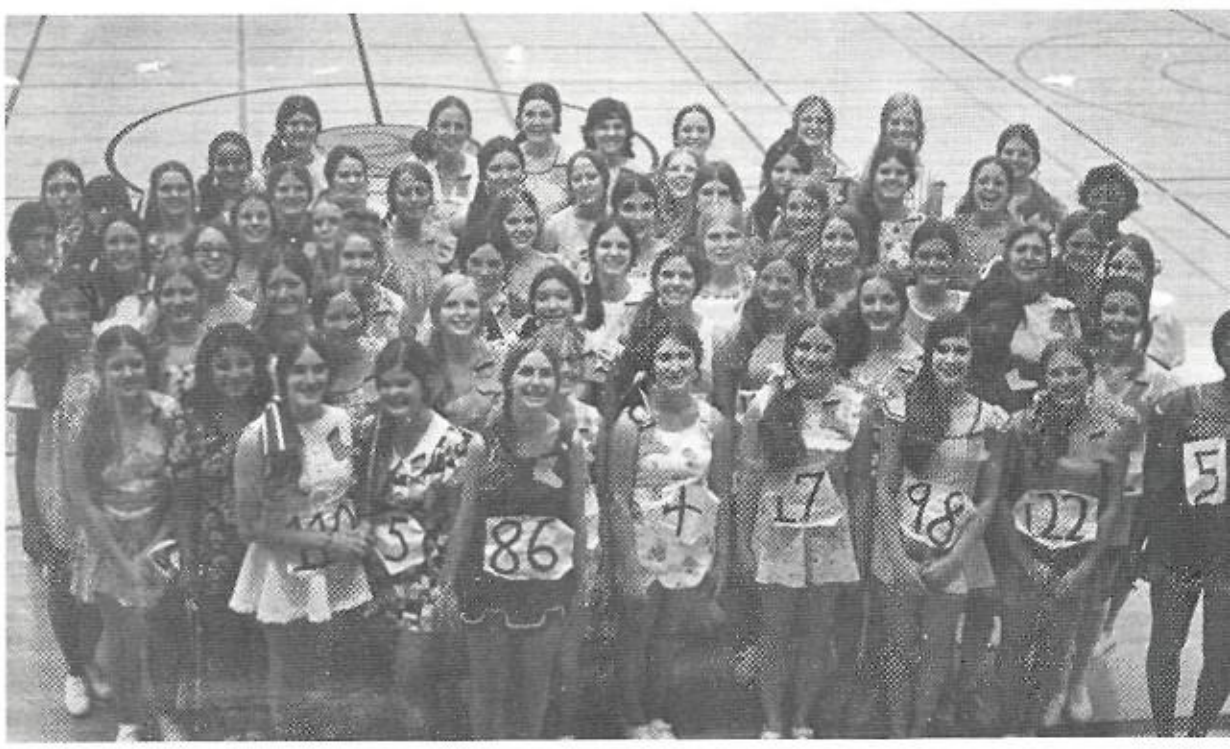
in a student council-sponsored advisory assembly, maj. thomas storey, an ex-pow, spoke to the student body on his years in captivity. in a moving and emotional speech, he described his "fabulous five": freedom, family, faith, friends, and future.

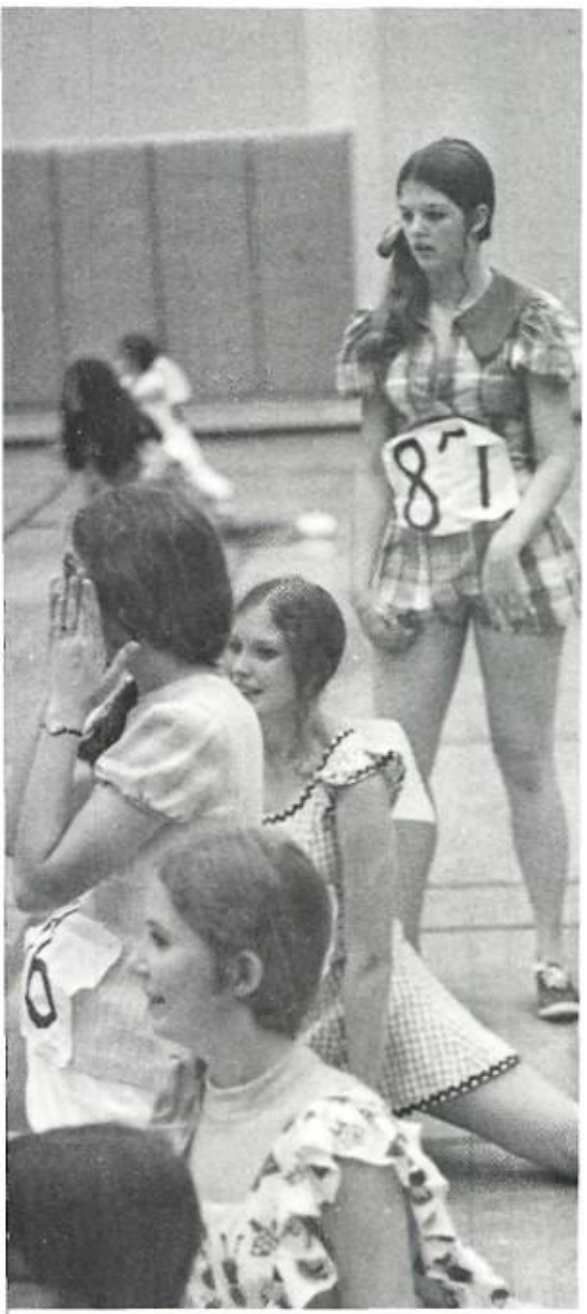
1. thomas storey chats with a student after his speech. 2. robert wesson takes an opportunity to shake the hand of the ex-prisoner. 3. steve mayer receives an award for outstanding achievement in texans. 4. students crowd around maj. storey. 5. in an emotional moment, maj. thomas storey is embraced by a crockett student. 6. basketball players receive their award, recognizing them as crockett's first district champs. 7. lana enis is awarded a certificate for all of the work she did in choir. remember all those announcements? 8. karen tumulty, council secretary, and dickie copeland, spring semester president, applaud bob allen's announcement of hilda prado winning an all-school achievement award.



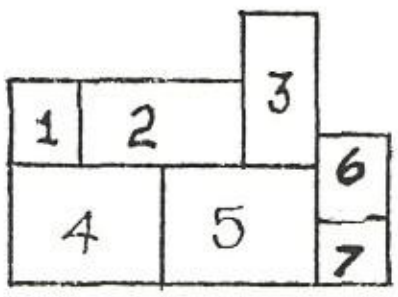


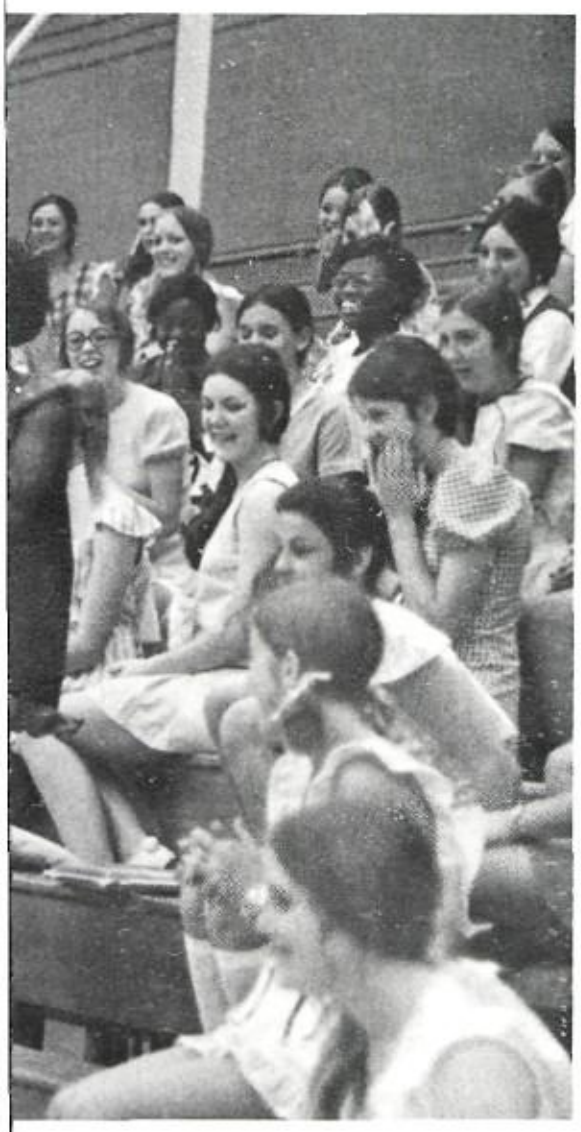
try-outs yield new tex-ann





1. tex-anns applaud as new members are announced. 2. congratulations! you are now a tex-ann. 3. oh! those splits. 4. tension eases after a long day of tryouts. 5. "i made it." 6. let's get those kicks higher chicks. 7. keep trying, you will get it right someday.





2, 3. kelly laws' home is the sight of only one of many german chocolate cake factories. 4. baking brings messes that take months to clean up. 5, 7. two choir parents, mrs. troy enis and mrs. bobby binford, cook goodies that would make sarah lee jealous. 6. pecan pies smell heavenly when just taken out of the oven.

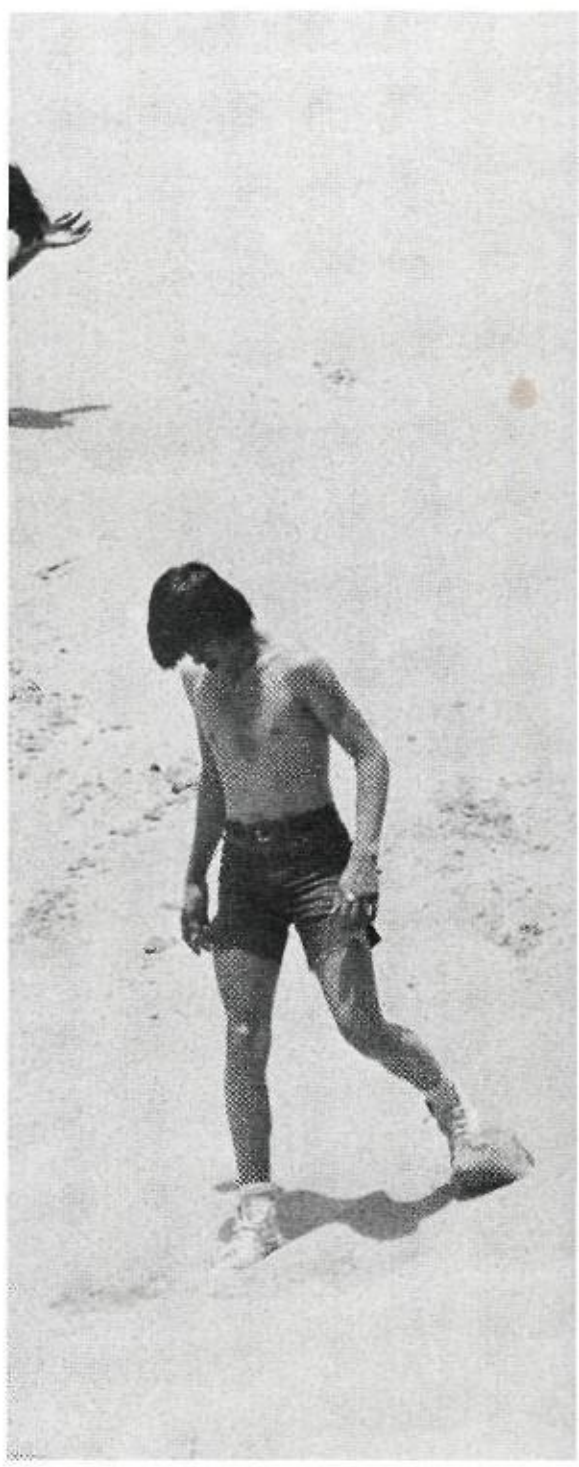
all around the school rumor pertaining to strange occurrences in the choral department could be heard. was it true that thirty students in concert choir not only were some of the top vocalists of the school, but the best bakers, too? well, believe it or not, evidence was collected to validate the premise that the choir had undertaken the project of earning half its way to europe, mostly by baking all kinds of goodies.

even though it was uncommon to see european hopefuls with swollen eyes after staying up all night baking, the thought of walking down the streets of paris kept spirits high. german chocolate cakes and pecan pies were only two of the many baked goods produced in assembly line fashion. students were often called on to help carry in hundreds and hundreds of items to be delivered to the school and community. lana enis' "o.k. folks, it's time for another annual choir bake sale" became a big joke among cougars. the success of bake sales brought closer and closer the reality of going to europe . . . as close as june 12.

texans take off on long awaited trip

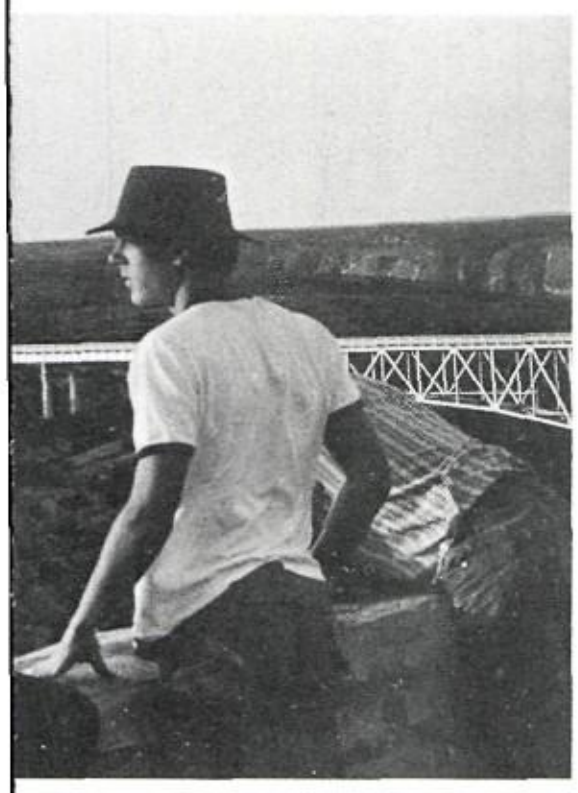


1. a bevy of beauties out for their morning swim. 2. would you believe that this was a lush rain forest before the texans hit it? 3. mike toupin and matt raven do a little south of the border souvenir hunting. 4. "i could have sworn i laid it down here someplace." 5. charles carter takes one last look. 6. some more swimmers.

mr. fisher and mr. suits rounded up 20 of their texans and took off to big bend national park for the easter holidays. they began the trip after school let out on april 18. after a stop in crockett county, they settled down (or did they) for the night at a road-side park.

the next few days were spent at big bend itself. texans climbed cosa grande mountain to look for the bottle they had buried the year before. to their surprise, someone else had found it too and had left them a note.

on saturday, the group went to the ghost town of terlingua and sunday (easter) was "bath day" in the river at boquillas canyon. most of monday was spent on the road home.



anna and the king danced

as the excitement of the play rolls in, preparations come by the barrel — make-up crews, lighting and stage directions, dress rehearsals and costume and prop committees. the few weeks before the "opening" are spent with activities such as these.

many long hours are spent by teachers and students for just these two nights. such as diane cunningham's mask when she acted in "uncle tom's cabin," an inter-play of "the king and i." connie gillespie helps bruce clapp with his make-up before going on stage. even the make-up was pre-planned. lady thiang, better known as kelley laws, probably spent many nights perfecting her songs, rehearsing lines, and memorizing cues before the final night.

jack corbin and doug wunneburger display their talents as the son of anna and the son of the king. "i'll be late getting home tonite dear," remarks mrs. spain as she sets off for another day at work on the musical. mrs. spain played a big part in the final production as the choral director and instructor. "king randy allamon" receives aid from lana enis of make-up crew as she gives him that "siamese touch."

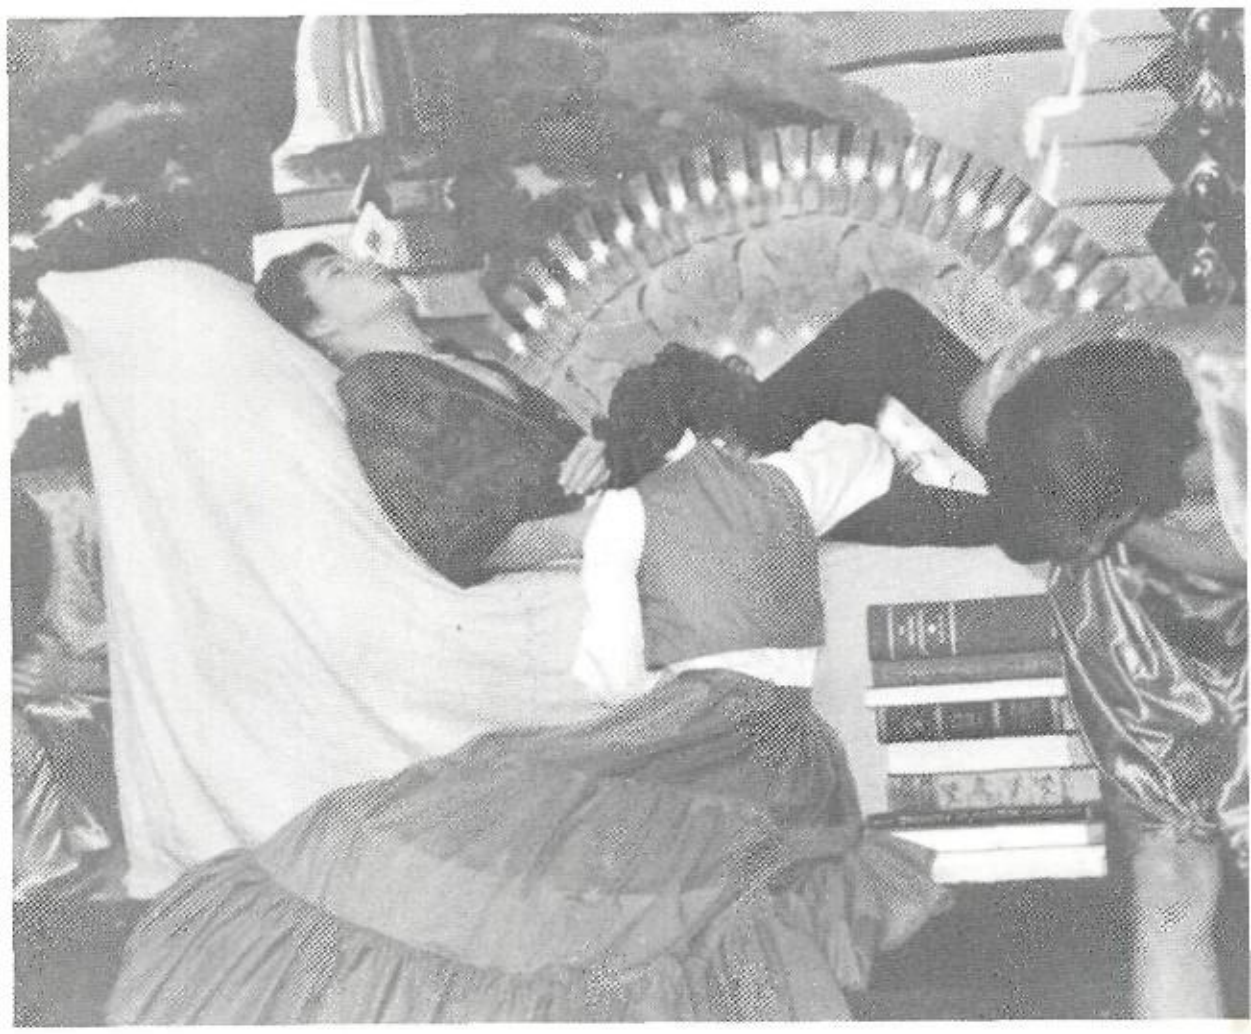
but i not barbaric king sherral behrens and randy allamon were "stars for the night" as they portrayed the leading characters anna and the king. this play revolves around a british school teacher who is sent to siam to teach the king's children, and gets involved more than intended.

here anna is seen singing to the children upon her arrival to siam. the king acts out his stubborn attitude with one of those most famous words, "but . . ."

anna kneels beside the king in the last scene where he takes a sudden illness.



one of anna's tasks was to "westernize siam." the king tries to get the hang of things by assisting her with her shawl before entering the dinner party.

love gets its share in the play as bruce clapp and pat cunningham, lum tha and tup tim secretly fall in love.

you mean siam not sit on turtle's back?

anna's job as the school teacher is to tell the children what is outside "the world of siam." this is often carried out by singing in the schoolroom as shown here.

a bit of the homelife is brought to anna when the ambassador of britain, mickey powell, pays a visit to the king. here they enjoy a dance before the elaborate dinner that anna has planned.

anna proceeds to write a letter to abraham lincoln, whom the king admires very much, sending him elephants from siam. "etcetera . . . etcetera . . . etcetera . . ."

susan angell imitates uncle tom in "uncle tom's cabin." tim canady bows to the king. *linda maurer dances for the children in the schoolroom scene.

students dedicate memorial

late in the spring most of the student body crowded into the courtyard as a memorial plaque was dedicated to those students and ex-students who were killed in the bus accident. thomas harlow won the memorial scholarship. different speakers representing various organizations were present.

Austin Church Bus-Truck Crash Leaves Death Toll of 19; 17 Hurt

New Mexico Tragedy Fatal To 17 From City, 2 From SA

Seventeen Austinites — most of them teenagers — and two persons from San Antonio were killed Tuesday evening when a trailer truck jacknifed into the chartered bus that was taking them to a holiday retreat in New Mexico.

The accident occurred as the second of two chartered buses from Woodlawn Baptist Church crossed a narrow bridge on US 60, 12 miles east of Ft. Sumner, N.M. The buses, loaded with 67 people, were enroute to Vadito, a ski retreat near a major Baptist assembly site, Glorieta, in northern New Mexico. The group left Austin enroute to the holiday outing at 6 a.m. Tuesday and the accident was reported at about 7:30 p.m.

One critically injured youth was taken to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock and the other injured were taken to hospitals in Ft. Sumner and Clovis, about 45 miles from the crash scene. New Mexico state police said the first bus, driven by John Roberts, a youth leader from Woodlawn Baptist Church, passed the eastbound cattle truck without incident. The truck then apparently hit the bridge railing swinging the trailer into the path of the second bus. The driver of the cattle truck was identified as Ervy Wilmeth of Clovis. He was among those admitted to the Clovis Hospital.

Traffic on the highway was blocked for about six hours and some of the injured weren't removed from the wrecked bus for as long as two hours, according to police. At sunrise Wednesday, the wreckage remained on the side of the highway but traffic was able to pass the scene.

Frank Stanley, a radio newsman from Clovis, said seats in the bus were torn from their moorings by the impact and the frame of the bus was ripped loose from the body.

Study Hall is now one big bitch session, coming from the very intelligent Study Hall teachers. Oh well, we still have the rest of the semester & drive them crazy, let's give it a try

Paula

Dawn,
You're a really sweet guy and I really appreciate the rides home alot. Lots of luck in the future you Senior, live long and prosper!
